Has Complete Power Hangman Gestapo Chief Goes to Eastern Front

By ROBERT DOWSON
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

LONDON, Jan. 23.—(BUP)—Berlin reported today that Adolf Hitler had rushed Gestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler and others of his best commanders to the Eastern Front and given them "complete power" to rally German strength against the Russians in any way they saw fit.

"The fuhrer has sent his best army commanders and men of iron determination like Reichsleiter Heinrich Himmler to the focal points of the battle," a Nazi broadcast said.

"They have been given complete power and will make radical decisions and guarantee the command."

The broadcast signaled Berlin's acknowledgment that the battle of Germany had begun in the east, since Himmler is commander-in-chief of the German home army and commander of the Gestapo, which Allied armies have credited with keeping Germany in the war.

Unconfirmed reports from Stockholm said Nazi leaders were fleeing Berlin, and the rest of the capital's inhabitants would be evacuated as soon as the party bigwigs were safely away.

A German broadcast plainly trying to boost morale on the home front said that "already the Soviet hordes are getting a foretaste of German contempt for death when the defence of the homeland is at stake."

A DNB commentator, calling on the Germans to "make Germany an insuperable bulwark of fanatic resistance," cried:

"What is all the Soviet mass brutality, all the Jewish hatred, the plutocratic profit instincts, compared with the glowing will to live of 80,000,000 persons? At no time shall we forget that we were and will be Germans, and therefore, are stronger than all our enemies together."

To Aid Agriculture

Alberta Experimental Farm Urged by AFU President

Establishment of a provincial experimental farm, to accurately determine cost of agriculture production per bushel and per animal was urged Tuesday by James Jackson, Irma, president of the Alberta Farmers' Union, when he spoke at the AFU convention in the Masonic Temple Tuesday afternoon.

Class Absent Troops in B.C. As Deserters

VANCOUVER, Jan. 23.—(CP)—All British Columbia members of the Canadian Army slated for overseas duty and now absent from their units are considered deserters, Maj.-Gen. George R. Pearkes, general officer commanding-in-chief, Pacific Command, announced last night.

By failing to report at the expiration of leave and travelling time after being "warned of special duty" the men automatically became deserters, Gen. Pearkes ruled.

All men in units transferred to Eastern Canada assembly points late last December from British Columbia were warned of overseas duty, officials at Pacific Command headquarters announced.

"HUNT" FOR TROOPS

Efforts were being made throughout this province, they said, to round up 482 soldiers, active and home defence troops, reported absent.

City Flier Downs One of 5 Planes

LONDON, Jan. 23.—(CP)—Five Focke Wulf 190s were destroyed yesterday when five Canadian Red Indian squadron Spitfires, without loss, battled 25 German fighters near the city of Rheine, 65 miles north of Dortmund.

Flt. Lt. M. J. Gordon of Edmonton downed one for the first score of his second tour of operations, giving him a total of four aircraft destroyed.

The Hornet squadron had swept the same area only a few minutes before the Red Indian squadron came over and Sgt. Ldr. Art Sager of Vancouver dived on an airfield near Rheine just too late to catch the enemy fighters as they took off. However, he damaged a twin-engine aircraft on the ground, and also a truck and a snowplow.

Sale and Purchase

2 Real Estate Transactions Authorized by City Council

Two real estate transactions were approved Monday night by city council, one involving the sale by the city of the Chisholm block, 101 street and Jasper avenue, to a group of tenants, the other the purchase by the city of the Qu'Appelle block, 100 street, as part of the civic centre project.

The sale price of the Chisholm block was $75,000, and the purchase price of the Qu'Appelle block $50,000.

In recommending the purchase of the Qu'Appelle building the city commissioners stated that it was undertaken in pursuance with the policy of council to acquire property for the civic centre project. This property purchase will give the city ownership of all properties on the east side of 100 street between 104 and 101A avenues.

It was intimated by City Commissioner John Hodgson that the provincial government would continue to rent those portions of the building presently occupied by government departments. The rental was not disclosed.

In connection with the sale of the Chisholm block a lengthy debate took place following the submission by the commissioners of an offer made by R. H. Drever on behalf of J. Frank MacMillan. This offer was for $85,000, with $30,000 in cash and the balance payable in five equal annual installments.

Large Saving 1.94% Average Interest Rate On B.C. Bonds

VICTORIA, Jan. 23.—(CP)—Premier John Hart, as minister of finance has announced a further reduction of $70,000 in the province's debt and another substantial saving in interest charges. This has resulted in a refunding of an issue of $3,989,000, maturing Feb. 1.

The maturing issue was sold in 1935 on a 5.5 per cent interest coupon. To the credit of this issue there stood $70,000 in the sinking fund.

The remaining $3,919,000 has been refunded on a 15-year serial basis, at a rate which will save the province $118,315 during the first year, with savings increasing in each of the succeeding years as the principal instalments are paid.

TENDERS CALLED

Tenders were called and the syndicate submitting the best bid comprised A. E. Ames & Company, Wood, Gundy & Company, Dominion Securities Corporation, the Royal Bank of Canada and the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

These serial bonds were purchased at $99.171 per $100, or at a weighted average interest cost basis to the province of 1.94 per cent. The best bids were 2,941.9; 2,964.48 and 2,972.07 per cent, average weighted cost to the province.

Croonquist Wins In Women's 'Spiel'

Rink played by Mrs. O. I. Croonquist won the Jackson Trophy playing Monday morning at the Alberta Avenue curling rink, in the final games of the annual bonspiel sponsored by the Northern Alberta Women's Curling Association.

The Croonquist rink scored 11 playing against the rink skipped by Mrs. A. M. Lees of Red Deer. The latter finished with a score of 10.

In the morning, rinks played in the finals and semi-finals. The 12 noon games entered the final for the Hudson's Bay trophy and the Grand Challenge. Mowbray and Melvor are going into the final for the City trophy.

Results of Tuesday morning's draw are as follows: Haliburton 6, Kent 10; Carroll 15, Verge 9; LeClerc 7, J. O. Mercer 2; Lees 10, Croonquist 11; and Mowbray 14, Melvor 3.

Enter St. Vith

Americans Break Into Enemy's Last Belgian Stronghold

By ROYD C. LEWIS
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

PARIS, Jan. 23.—(BUP)—American tanks broke into St. Vith, last German stronghold in Belgium, while at the northern end of the front, Canadian forces hurled German troops back across the De Linge canal northwest of Nijmegen and the British Second Army in southeast Holland repulsed counter-attacks against Waldflecht and seized the villages of Honten and Selsten to the southeast.

Lt.-Gen. Sir Miles Dempsey's United Kingdom troops captured the four villages of Valdenrath, Ospringen, Laffeld and Locken in gains of half a mile east of St. Joost and beyond Ebsenwert in the Dutch-Roer pocket.

The capture of Laffeld brought the British within two miles of the big road centre of Heinsberg.

Front line reports said the Germans were retreating from the last strip of the Ardennes bulge under a rain of explosives that knocked out 4,100 vehicles in an aerial blitz yesterday.

The fall of St. Vith would knock out the last practical escape highway from Ardennes north of the Luxembourg border and also cut the main north-south road running the length of the narrow Nazi salient.

May Be Forced King Hints at Dissolution Before Date of By-Election

OTTAWA, Jan. 23.—(CP)—Prospect that another session of the present parliament might not be held because of the nature of the by-election campaign in Grey North was raised today by Prime Minister Mackenzie King in a 3,000-word message to the voters of that constituency where Defence Minister McNaughton is seeking a seat in the House of Commons. Voting is scheduled for Feb. 5.

Mr. King charged the opposition parties, Progressive Conservatives and Co-Operative Commonwealth Federation, with creating conditions which would make another session of the present parliament impractical.

He also stated the only purpose of the by-election was to give Gen. McNaughton a seat "during a brief session to be held before a general election."

MAKES CHARGES

Nomination day in Grey North is Jan. 29. Should parliament be dissolved before Feb. 5, election day, and a general election called, the by-election would be eliminated.

It Says Here

by Bob Hope

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 23.—I went to the ballet last night. You know what those ballet dancers are like? They're jitterbugs with Russian accents. What an exclusive audience! You don't find em leaving chewing gum under the seats... they park their caviar there. Once before I saw some guy jump as high as those ballet boys, but he had a hot-foot to help him out.

Actually I think the whole thing's a fake... those guys are really suspended from the ceiling with yo-yos.

This theatre wasn't like the other theatres I go to, and I certainly missed the guy selling chocolates during the intermissions. I'm not surprised that ballet has become so popular in the past two years... everybody's been jumping around and doing contortions after making out their income tax returns.

WINS DEC.—Flt. Lt. H. A. Crawford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Crawford, 1054 125 street, who has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross for outstanding service in the RCAF overseas, is shown today.

The land is assessed at $12,000 and the buildings at $4,610. Parties to the deal declined to confirm or deny the reported sale.

Property Sale Is Completed Here

Another major sale of Jasper avenue property was reported Tuesday morning. It is the purchase by the British American Paint Co., of the 33-1-3 feet, known as 10335 Jasper avenue, on which the Maud Paint Co. store is located. The purchase price was not disclosed.

The land is assessed at $12,000 and the buildings at $4,610. Parties to the deal declined to confirm or deny the reported sale.

Reich Railroads, Oil Factory Hit By Allied Planes

LONDON, Jan. 23.—(BUP)—Flying Fortresses escorted by about 100 fighters today attacked the Neuss railroads, four miles south of Düsseldorf.

The day strike followed a night attack by 730 RAF bombers on Duisburg and other objectives in western Germany. A synthetic oil plant at Duisburg was the main RAF objective.

500 Servicemen Back in Canada From War Fronts

HALIFAX, Jan. 23.—(CP)—Back from the mud and blood of the European battlefields, more than 500 Canadian servicemen arrived home in the Dominion yesterday aboard the Canadian hospital ship Lady Nelson.

Practically all the returned men wore the khaki of the army, survivors of the battles of Sicily, Italy or the Western front.

A number had been wounded in training in England, or had been invalided home after illness. A sprinkling of the RCAF personnel was in the movement.

Allied Air Forces May Aid Soviets

LONDON, Jan. 23.—(CP)—The Russians have advanced so far in their present great offensive that east front lines now are within reasonable range of Allied air forces which hitherto have flown chiefly in support of west-front operations.

Milder Weather To Continue Here

Mild weather continues in the Edmonton district with the official forecast predicting Tuesday and Wednesday will be "fair and mild." The maximum temperature here Monday was 37 above zero and the minimum 19. Overnight the low was 19 above and at 2 a.m. it was 33 above. Estimated high for the day is 33 above. Estimated overnight minimum is 15 above and the maximum tomorrow 35.

"Ample" Funds CCF Organizers Claimed Causing Unrest in Army

REGINA, Jan. 23.—(CP)—H. B. Blaine of Regina, president of the Saskatchewan Young Liberals' Association, said in an address yesterday that organizers working in the CCF interest seemed to have the purpose of spreading as much dissension as possible among Canadians in the army overseas.

Mr. Blaine, who has returned from service overseas, said that in every army regiment or other unit in England there appeared to be at least one organizer "whose purpose seemed to be to cause as much dissension as he could."

WORKING FOR CCF
"Such an organizer always seemed to be working in the CCF interest—a strange coincidence."

"I do not suggest the CCF had paid organizers but these men always had more money to spend in the canteens and more cigarettes from home than anyone else."

Speaking at a Saskatchewan Liberal Association council meeting, Mr. Blaine said that the effects of the dissension caused by "paid organizers" overseas could be seen in the men command.

Coal Gas Fumes Take Two Lives

CHICOUTIMI, Que., Jan. 23.—(CP)—Coal gas fumes, seeping through a St. Anne street dwelling following a furnace explosion, brought death yesterday to Raymond Larouche, 30, and Gabrielle Larouche, 3½, two of the nine children of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Larouche of Chicoutimi.

Mr. and Mrs. Larouche, and six of their children, also were overcome by the fumes and required hospital treatment.

After Building It Candidate Says McNaughton Left Army "High and Dry"

MEAFORD, Ont., Jan. 23.—(CP)—Garfield Case, Progressive Conservative candidate in the Grey North by-election of Feb. 5, said last night that he was ready to concede that Defence Minister McNaughton built the "finest" army in the world, but after building it he "deserted it or at any rate left it high and dry."

In a speech in this town 20 miles east of Owen Sound, Mr. Case said: "The Liberal organization had published an advertisement which asked: 'Ever build an army, Mr. Case?' The advertisement stated that Gen. McNaughton had built the finest army in the world and had built it on the idea that mechanized equipment was cheaper than human lives."

He referred to Gen. McNaughton's statement in Ottawa Saturday that 6,300 home defence troops, warned that they were bound for overseas service, had not returned from pre-embarkation leave.

"This is indeed one of Canada's most tragic hours," said Mr. Case. "Newspapers and radio from coast to coast."

Report 17,637 Men Enlisted In 12 Weeks

OTTAWA, Jan. 23.—(CP)—Defence headquarters last night released figures of weekly enlistment figures for general service, making public weekly figures which showed enlistments of 17,637—most of them from the general public—during the 12 weeks ended last Saturday.

The 17,637 figure was made up of 10,408 enlistments from the public, 6,044 conversions from the Home Defence Army and 1,095 enlistments from the Reserve Army. The period covered was from the week ended last Nov. 4 to the week ended Jan. 20.

RESPONSE HITS PEAK

A table accompanying the statement showed that the response from civilians reached its highest peak during the last two weeks, when enlistments from that category totalled 1,587 and 1,494, respectively. For the period covered, weekly public enlistments up to Jan. 6 were below the 1,000 mark.

The highest figure for conversions from troops called up under the National Resources Mobilization Act was during the week ended Dec. 2, when they totalled 1,330. Last week they were 427 and in the preceding week 30.

Enlistments from the Reserve Army generally have been below the 100 mark. Last week they were 102 and in the week before 138.

TABLE GIVES DETAILS

Here is the department table, showing the week covered, source of enlistments and totals:

Week ended	Pub.	Re-	Total
Nov. 4	637	106	1,095
Nov. 11	797	112	1,173
Nov. 18	920	108	1,306
Nov. 25	881	115	1,365
Dec. 2	1,330	67	2,246
Dec. 9	939	80	1,859
Dec. 16	780	89	1,529
Dec. 23	634	55	1,078
Dec. 30	179	19	261
Jan. 6	701	73	843
Jan. 13	1,387	158	2,053
Jan. 20	1,494	102	2,023

Totals: 10,408 6,044 17,637

The figures for Nov. 4 to Dec. 2, which was the last date on which the department made public weekly enlistment figures until the resumption last night.

The department said the drop in numbers over the Christmas and New Year's period was similar to that which occurred over the holiday season last year.

Issuance of weekly enlistment figures began after Gen. McNaughton took over the defence ministry from Col. J. L. Ralston, who resigned that post during the cabinet crisis over the method of raising men to meet the need for overseas reinforcements.

The Princess Marguerite's and was spectacular. Battered and ravaged by torpedo explosions, the craft burned with great clouds of smoke and flame which could be seen for many miles, and released a murderous hail of anti-aircraft and small arms shells when fire reached the gun emplacements and munition stores. She went down in the Mediterranean, three hours off Port Said.

Her captain, R. A. Leicester, of Vancouver, was awarded the OBE for "great courage and presence of mind" and for "excellent leadership and organization which kept the loss of life to a minimum."

Monetary System Teaching Urged In Sask. Schools

SASKATOON, Jan. 23.—(CP)—Teaching of the monetary system in Saskatchewan public schools has been recommended to the provincial government by the executive of the Saskatchewan division, United Farmers of Canada, Frank Ellason, secretary, said yesterday.

At a meeting with the provincial cabinet last week, Mr. Ellason said the executive was told the proposed new high school curriculum would be submitted to farm organizations and other groups for comment and suggestions.

He also said the government will likely introduce to the next legislature some type of crop insurance scheme.

CCF Declared Too Unstable For Good Govt.
REGINA, Jan. 23.—(CP)—Federal Agriculture Minister G. J. Macdonald said in an address last night that the CCF spokesmen, who had opposed sending men overseas in 1939, had become the most outspoken advocates of all-out conscription for overseas at the recent short session of the House of Commons.

Speaking before the Saskatchewan Liberal Association Council, Mr. Macdonald said that the CCF used "out-spoken ballyhoo" in support of its present position.

The all-out conscription viewpoint was being expressed by the CCF in the Grey North by-election campaign "but, while they may be nearer right now than at the beginning, men who are so unstable cannot give the best government."

CAUSE OF DEPRESSION
"Planners, protectionists and isolationists generally" had been responsible for the depression of the 30's and for the war, in Canada, the CCF had advocated planning of a certain type, but in 1937, T. G. Douglas, then a CCF member of parliament and now Saskatchewan premier, had moved that the defence estimates be reduced to $1.

"That was the CCF attitude," a young airman who had entered the meeting hall at this point called, "but it's the best government we've ever had."

"Yes, and in three or four years you'll be throwing them out," Mr. Macdonald replied.

The minister said the long-term policy of the Liberal party rested on the ability of Canadians to produce the things necessary to a world of peace, plus the ability to arrange for their exchange with those who could produce what Canada needed.

Speaking on probable post-war developments, Mr. Macdonald said he believed too much thinking was done on the assumption the European war would end long before the Japanese, while it could not be assumed that the European war was over until that in the Orient was concluded.

Recent fighting in Athens had indicated that after the battles on the fronts had ended it would be necessary to pay attention to certain parts of Europe at least until the Japanese war was over. No one could say to what extent Canadian troops must take part in the occupation of enemy countries.

Navy Minister Back in London
LONDON, Jan. 23.—(CP)—Navy Minister Macdonald, accompanied by Vice-Admiral C. C. Jones, chief of the Canadian naval staff, and J. J. Connelly, the minister's executive assistant, yesterday flew to a Belgian port to inspect Canada's famous flotilla of motor torpedo boats which has been operating against German shipping off the Belgian coast. Mr. Macdonald and his party returned to London late yesterday.

CANTERBURY, Jan. 23.—(Reuters)—In the Norman crypt of the cathedral where little more than two months ago the primate, Dr. William Temple, had lain in state before his funeral, members of the greater chapter of the See of Canterbury yesterday elected Dr. Geoffrey Francis Fisher, Bishop of London, the new Archbishop of Canterbury. He had been recommended by the King.

Cabinet Ministers' Defeat Predicted
SASKATOON, Jan. 23.—(CP)—R. A. Bell of Ottawa, national director of the Progressive Conservative Party, predicted in an address here during the week-end that "not a single Liberal cabinet minister will be elected west of the Ottawa river and not very many east of it." He also said that the "conference and trust" of the Liberals had disappeared since the recent issues on the manpower question.

Alberta Farm To Make Tests Urged by AFU

similar commodities in the same locality. In industry this is not done.

"Union labor will 'down tools' on the stroke of five and even if ten minutes more work would have finished one section of a building for instance, it is left till the following morning. This causes much higher 'costs' which have to be met. As organized labor won't absorb the additional costs brought about by these methods, agriculture has always been forced to.

"Whatever crops are harvested on such a farm should be prorated to the average for the year and the district in which the farm is situated—so that a real average 'cost' may be determined. Such an experimental farm would have considerable value as a guide on parity prices and would render a valuable service to the cause of agricultural economics."

Delivering his presidential address on opening day of the convention, which will last until Thursday evening, Mr. Jackson reported AFU membership increased 3,000 in 1944. "This portends great things for the future of our union," he told delegates.

REPORTS ON MEETINGS
The AFU leader reported on meetings held with labor representatives during the last year. "We understand each other's problems and are hoping in the near future to establish working agreements with the two main trade union groups in the Dominion, rather than outright affiliation which will come later," he said.

Jackson said some persons believe that because the AFU is not officially organizing co-ops in Alberta, it was opposed to them.

"That is not our attitude at all," he declared. "But I wish to point out that the main objective of the AFU is to obtain parity prices for the farmers. We are keeping our eye on the main issue and will only advocate such steps as we feel sure will lead us where we want to go."

On the question of taxation by the Dominion government of co-op savings, Mr. Jackson said in part:

"As soon as the executive of the Alberta Farmers' Union heard of the attempt to impose what looked like double taxation on the co-operatives we resented it. We do not object and we do not think they object to whatever just taxation may be levied on them; but we protest against any form of discriminatory taxation whatsoever."

"Your executive passed a resolution and forwarded a copy to all the large co-operatives in the west and also one to every provincial farm body right across the Dominion protesting the inequities of double taxation and we are, as far as I know, the only farmer body which took such action."

"We also sent a copy of this resolution to the chairman of the royal commission which has been appointed to inquire into the matter and received a reply stating that if we wish to prepare a brief we would have the opportunity to do so. Although the time was very short we had a brief prepared and it has been presented."

Concluding, the AFU leader said:

"Democracy has a job to do besides winning the war. We must win the peace for which we are fighting. We must complete the job so that all our people will be able to realize the benefits of true democracy. Unless we can prove that democracy is the most desirable form of government it will be superseded by something else, so we have no time to lose and we must see to it that our own government is really controlled by the people and carries into effect the real wishes of the people."

"Our fight must not cease when the guns quit firing. We must continue to work, strive and co-operate to build a better world order, just as we are striving, working and co-operating for war."

"There are some people who tell us glibly that the old order is gone and that we are going to have a new order, presumably automatically. I am convinced that we shall never go back to conditions as they existed in the pre-war years, but I am also convinced that in the post-war years, we will have exactly the kind of new order that we build, you and I, the common people of Canada."

Cabinet Ministers' Defeat Predicted
SASKATOON, Jan. 23.—(CP)—R. A. Bell of Ottawa, national director of the Progressive Conservative Party, predicted in an address here during the week-end that "not a single Liberal cabinet minister will be elected west of the Ottawa river and not very many east of it." 200,000 Nazis Facing Great Russian Trap sky's army captured Salsfield, 23 miles from the big rail junction of Elbing, last exit from East Prussia on the coastal trunk railway. On the coast, 23 miles southeast of Allenstein, Freystadt, 35 miles southeast of Danzig, Mohrunen, 28 miles southeast of Elbing, and Willenberg, 30 miles south of Allenstein, also fell.

KEY TO ESCAPE
Any German withdrawal from East Prussia would have to be through Elbing, 23 miles above Salsfield, although a five-mile belt of trackless marshland lies between that town and the Baltic proper.

To the northeast, Gen. Ivan D. Cherniakhovsky's troops drove within 25 miles northeast and 30 miles east of Königsberg, the provincial capital of East Prussia.

Soviet columns pushing down the two railroads into Königsberg from the east and northeast seized the junctions at Wehlau, midway between captured Insterburg and Labiau, on the Baltic coastal line.

Both the Pregel and Dniepr rivers, the main barriers of north-central East Prussia, were forced in the converging drives, Stalin reported in his third order of the day.

OTHER SUCCESSES
In the southeastern part of the province, Cherniakhovsky's forces captured Treuburg, a rail and highway junction 50 miles below Insterburg; Darkehmen, 18 miles southeast of Insterburg; and Bekheim, 28 miles southeast of Insterburg.

Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov's army, setting the pace in the great Russian sweep against Germany, captured Bydgoszcz in a frontal assault co-ordinated with a flanking manoeuvre.

The fall of Bydgoszcz, hub from which a score of railroads and highways radiate, unbegging the main German defence of northwest Poland, and freed powerful Soviet forces to join in the big push toward Berlin.

NEARING POZNAN
Both Moscow and Berlin reported that Zhukov's left wing was charging over the approaches of Poznan, last big Polish base on the road to the German capital.

To the south, Marshal Ivan S. Konev's invasion forces in Silesia were reported to have reached the Oder river southeast of Breslau, and Berlin took note of the fact that the first Soviet wedge had been driven to this primary defence line of the Nazi homeland.

In the northeast, the Moscow radio reported that the Red army "is nearing Königsberg," capital of East Prussia which was being overrun from the east and south. Last official accounts placed the Soviet vanguard 28 miles from Königsberg.

VITAL JUNCTION
Marshal Stalin's first order of the day today announced the capture of Bydgoszcz, "an important junction of railways and highways and a powerful stronghold of the German defences of the lower Vistula."

"The German defence line in the east no longer exists," the Moscow radio said. "The Red Army soon will have crossed the German eastern frontier along its entire length."

Marshal Stalin's five-army sweep continued unchecked, all reports indicated, with signs that its main weight now was being focused on the German border area before Berlin.

Soviet dispatches quoted unconfirmed reports that the Russians had smashed to the upper Oder river in German Silesia, the lower course of which winds within 35 miles of Berlin. The lightning pace of the Red Army advance indicated that the mauled and routed Germans could not undertake a stand short of the Oder.

EAST PRUSSIA DRIVE
The Red armies were battering through East Prussia, defended by an estimated 200,000 German troops threatened by entrapment by a drive cutting the next to last exit railroad and carrying within 44 miles of the Baltic.

On the opposite wing of the unprecedented Russian offensive, the German high command acknowledged that powerful Soviet units were attacking in the area between Namslau and Gels, respectively 26 miles east and 17 northeast of Breslau, capital of Silesia.

Other Soviet forces had plunged into the area east of Oppel, on the Oder 48 miles southeast of Breslau, a Berlin communique said.

"In upper Silesia the Germans held their positions on the eastern and northeastern border of the industrial area except for single breaches in the face of numerous enemy attacks," the communique said.

REDS AT KALISS

To the northeast, it said, the Soviet vanguard was "at" Kaliss, 65 miles southeast of Poznan and the same distance northeast of Breslau.

A British United Press dispatch from Moscow said Zhukov's forces last were reported nine miles south of Bydgoszcz and were believed to be storming the city.

The Soviet newspaper Pravda in a front dispatch commented on Zhukov's sweep as follows:

"On a broad front enormous tank, artillery and cavalry forces are racing forward relentlessly, striking blitz-blows and paralyzing all enemy attempts to hold intermediate positions. Soviet infantry units following in the tracks of the tanks deliver the coup de grace to straggling enemy groups."

30-MILE GAIN

The swift advance to Poznan represented an overnight gain of almost 30 miles for the hard-driving Red Army and confirmed earlier indications that the Soviets had torn a great breach in the centre of the German front in Poland.

A Moscow broadcast said Russian forces were in the outskirts of Bydgoszcz, 66 miles northeast of Poznan.

As the Russian winter offensive thundered into its 12th straight day, invading armies were fanning out through East Prussia and Silesia, and threatening to spill over into central Germany on the short road to Berlin by mid-week.

From Berlin came a clamor of warnings to the German people that the decisive hour of the war has struck and that the eastern frontiers must be held at all costs. The Deutsche Allgemeine-Seeitung declared that Hitler had gone to the east to take personal command of the battle.

SPEARHEADS DRIVE
Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov's crack First White Russian Army spearheaded the direct thrust toward Berlin with a slashing advance across the Polish plains that appeared to be meeting only disorganized rear guard resistance.

The Soviet morning communique said Zhukov's tank columns advanced as much as 38 miles on a broad front in the past 24 hours to capture Gniezno, 28 miles northeast of the Polish fortress of Poznan and 165 miles east of the German capital.

Roosevelt Hopes World Will Note Canada, U.S. Ties
By C. R. BLACKBURN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—(CP)—President Roosevelt, accepting the credentials of Canada's new ambassador, L. B. Pearson, expressed a hope yesterday that the record of Canadian-American relations would be "noted the world over."

"You, who have contributed so greatly to the new international organizations already in action, will, by your example, bring this record into great prominence," the President said in a prepared acceptance statement.

Mr. Pearson, who was appointed last month after the resignation of Hon. Leighton McCarthy, said he was assuming office at a time when "victory of our arms has become sure if we do not relax our efforts of body, mind and spirit."

Vernon Whitworth was beaten over the head with a revolver and robbed of $25 Dec. 6. Whitworth spent 13 days in hospital.

Anglo-Soviet Credit Talks Bogged Down
LONDON, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Anglo-Russian credit negotiations bogged down yesterday into a deadlock over the length of time Russia should be allowed for repayment.

Russia was understood to have asked for large credit from Great Britain to reconstruct the war-wasted Ukraine, and mentioned a period of between 10 and 20 years for writing off the debt. But the British government made a counter-proposal of three to five years.

CCF CANDIDATE WON'T WITHDRAW
OWEN SOUND, Jan. 23.—(CP)—Air Vice-Marshal A. Earl Godfrey, CCF candidate in the Grey North by-election of Feb. 5, today said he is "definitely not withdrawing" from the contest.

parties of "creating and fostering the very circumstances which will make a general election inevitable at what may well prove to be one of the most critical of all stages of the war."

The attitude of the opposition parties, he said, had given national significance to the by-election in which Defence Minister McNaughton is seeking a seat in the House of Commons.

"To these issues, in their national and international bearing, the government is giving most careful thought," he said. "In considering your own attitude, I again appeal to you, irrespective of party affiliations, to put partisan considerations aside. In determining your attitude, I appeal to you to exert your influence above all in the light of what Canada owes to her fighting men."

DEFINITE HINT

The statement contained a definite hint that another session of the present parliament might not be held. (The adjourned session is to be prorogued Jan. 31, but the date of the start of a new session, if one is held, has not been set.)

"Until the day of official nomination we shall not know definitely whether the Progressive Conservatives and the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation are determined to persist in their present attitudes," he wrote.

"If they are it will obviously be the duty of the government to consider whether any usual purpose could be served by attempting to hold another session of the present parliament."

CRITICIZES 2 PARTIES
Criticizing the two opposition parties, Mr. King said that for more than two years the Progressive Conservative leader (John Bracken) had not attempted to obtain a seat in parliament. Now he and his party tried to make it impossible for the defence minister to have a seat in time of war.

"Were it possible to carry such a procedure to its logical conclusion it would mean the successful sabotage of the institution of parliament itself," he added.

He recalled that the House by a majority of more than 2 to 1 in December voted "to aid the government in maintaining a vigorous war effort." Since then the CCF leader (Mr. Coldwell) took credit for his party in promising this aid to the government. Now they had joined the Progressive Conservatives in trying to keep Gen. McNaughton out of parliament.

PRESENCE NECESSARY
Mr. King said the reason another session of parliament was desirable was to delay the election, if possible until after the end of the war in Europe and to pass necessary war legislation. The presence of Gen. McNaughton in the house was necessary for that and the sole reason for the by-election was to make his presence possible.

The controversy of a general election, at home and among the forces, could not be helpful to the war effort while the war was in progress and the government had consistently sought to avoid controversy. Had it sought political advantage it could have called the election at the time most favorable.

The constitutional limitation of parliament term, however, made an election inevitable in 1945.

Two other possibilities had been constantly stressed as developments which might make an election necessary:

1.—The undermining of the confidence of the country in the government "by unwarranted and unworthy activities on the part of political opponents while the administration itself was giving its undivided attention and devoting its whole energies to the prosecution of the war effort."

2.—The kind and degree of obstruction with which the government might come to be faced in parliament from members of those parties and groups which compose the opposition.

"Both of these possibilities I have mentioned would seem to be contained in the situation as it is developing in the North Grey by-election," he wrote.

CONSERVATIVES WILL NOT QUIT CONTEST
OWEN SOUND, Jan. 23.—(CP)—Garfield Case, Progressive Conservative candidate in the Feb. 5 Grey North by-election said today he has no intention of withdrawing from the contest.

Mr. Case said he could assure Prime Minister King, "that I will file my nomination papers next Monday and that we will go forward with our campaign in the hope that through victory I may carry to parliament a message from the people."

"I want to make it known to Mr. King that he is out of touch with public opinion," said Mr. Case who was commenting on a statement issued by Mr. King today at Ottawa.

The Progressive Conservative candidate said Mr. King was seeking to avoid the responsibility of responsible government and "he says in effect to the electors of Grey North that we are seeking to sabotage the war effort."

New Ledo Road To China Open

MYITKYINA, Burma, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The new Ledo Road to China was officially declared open to military traffic last night and the first convoy of trucks to carry supplies across Burma in 2½ years was ready to leave here on the final leg of its winding journey of more than 1,000 miles through mountains and jungle to Kunming.

Lt. Gen. Daniel I. Sultan, commander of the India-Burma theatre, announced officially that the road had been cleared of Japanese troops and was ready to handle convoys. The fall of the Chinese border town of Wanting two days ago eliminated the last remaining enemy obstacle to passage of Allied trucks.

Drivers last night were making final preparations for the last lap of their historic trip. They arrived in Myitkyina last week after covering the 262-mile stretch from the western terminus at Ledo.

Probe Is Told Tax on Co-Ops. Is "Essential"

couple of years whereas his company has been hard hit by corporation taxes. Other independent companies have similar views, he added.

F. J. Fitzpatrick, supervisor of co-operatives for the provincial government, filed a summary showing that turnover of Alberta co-operatives in 1943 was $75,500,000 more than double the volume of 1941.

He said that including a business of $362,028 by Credit Unions in 1943, other business co-operatives, consumer and producer, had done a business of $75,994,409. Number of Alberta members in co-operatives at Oct. 31, 1944, was 142,869.

HISTORY IS TRACED

A comprehensive history of the Co-Operative Milk Company, Calgary, Limited, was presented by R. V. Duffy, manager. The brief traced beginnings of the company when it was organized as a co-operative in 1929. It is engaged primarily and mainly in the distribution of milk and cream to Calgary consumers.

Prices are fixed by the Board of Public Utility Commissioners for Alberta and the board is empowered to fix minimum prices "from time to time" and to exercise "full and complete control over the industry."

The brief noted that "In common with many other co-operatives in Western Canada, the company had its first origin in a protest on the part of farmers against conditions under which their produce was marketed, particularly under 'pioneer' conditions and in a period of depression.

REPLACE WEAKNESS

The company also "Represents an attempt to replace the weakness of individual effort with the strength of collective effort" and the "Competitive influence of this co-operative within the Calgary milkshed has had a beneficial effect upon the marketing of all milk within that area."

The brief contended that "having regard to the increase in wages and all items entering into operating costs in war years, the increased net revenue available for distribution among members has not been substantially increased by reason of the war. 'In any event the association maintains that it is exempt from taxation under the provisions of the Excess Profits Tax Act.'"

It will "protest any amendment" to Section 4P of the Income Tax Act which has as its purpose the taxation of co-operatives," the brief said. "The association is bound to account to its members with respect to all money received from the sale of members' products and to pay to each his proportionate share. There is therefore no profit to be taxed."

PROFITS PAID BACK

The brief submitted by Mr. Ellison declared that the position between co-operatives and others in competition with co-operatives is such that "other enterprise has paid and is paying the majority of their profits back to the governments in taxes whereas the co-operatives share the privilege of keeping all of their earnings in their business for the purpose of expansion and for conducting their operations in such a way that other types of business cannot compete and exist."

In summary, the brief said co-operatives are entitled to build up big cash reserves which will put them in a financial position to force other types of business into liquidation, whenever they want to, and especially in time of depression; they are participating in benefits of government given to all citizens and paid for out of revenues and not paying their share of the cost.

On no basis of logic or fairness should co-operatives and mutual companies be relieved from their just and equitable share of paying the cost of government."

The Ellison company has a flour mill at Lethbridge with a daily capacity of 870 barrels of wheat flour, a feed chopping and mixing plant with a daily capacity of 150 tons, distributing warehouses at Calgary, Vancouver and Nelson, B.C., and 18 licensed country grain elevators in southern Alberta and two grain elevators at Lethbridge.

NOT TRUE CO-OPERATIVES

Mr. Ellison in his brief said the wheat pools operating in the prairie provinces and which are in "direct opposition" to his company, do not operate on a true co-operative basis and they do not handle grain ing home. One returned man had said that no victory bonds had been sold in Canada had it not been for the CCF.

CCF Organizers Claimed Causing Unrest in Army

"These organizers are distorting Canada in the eyes of the men overseas," he continued. "The Liberal party is being painted as an ogre. What are we going to do about it? We must plan definite things for these men coming home, we must design a policy in the best interests of the country and be ready to battle back the forces of evil that would take our liberties from us."

MAIN BATTLEGROUND

"The greatest fighting ground today is in Saskatchewan (where there is a CCF government) and they are taking liberties away today. How far are we to let this government go in Saskatchewan?"

R. T. Graham, Liberal member of parliament, said that the last session of parliament, with its social legislation should be a matter of pride to every Liberal, as it approved a program that could be offered to the electorate with confidence.

The family allowances measure represented an attack on poverty and no other country had legislation as comprehensive and generous. The payments under the Act would come into effect on July 1 whether or not the war was ended.

from members or shareholders with any obligation to pay them the proceeds from the sales on the basis of quantity and quality. "We therefore feel that the income tax division of the department of national revenue has failed in its duty to collect income taxes as due from the wheat pools on the same basis as has been done with other types of business enterprise."

"This failure has allowed co-operatives to build up large cash reserves, especially during war years when profits have been relatively high." The brief further contended the wheat pools in the prairie provinces are not exempt from provisions of the Excess Profits Tax Act "on the same grounds and for the same reasons as they are not exempt from the Income War Tax Act."

"As to method of operation, we contend that the wheat pools at least since the early '30s, have conducted business as principals and not as agents for their members. They operate the same as any corporate or joint stock grain company carrying on the same type of business."

SEE NO DISTINCTION

Analyzing the comparative situation of the co-operatives versus private enterprise "we fall to see any logical reason for making any distinction between the taxation of these systems of conducting business."

"The only reason is based on the principle that one cannot make a profit out of trading with oneself and that in fact co-operatives have no taxable income. In cases where this is an actual condition of trading, then we agree with the principle and with the decisions of the courts dealing with it. But we certainly do not have such a condition in most co-operatives today and especially not in the wheat pools."

New Canadian Legion Executive Is Installed At Memorial Hall

With Past President Walter R. McLaren, presiding, new executive members of Edmonton Branch No. 24 of the Canadian Legion BESL, were installed in office for the ensuing year at ceremonies at the Memorial Hall Monday night. Elections were held Sunday.

About 400 members with wives and friends attended. To the skill of pipes each officer was conducted in turn by Sergeant-at-Arms Robert Dalgleish to his seat of honor on the platform. The Legion colors were also piped to the front.

FOURTH TERM

President Harold E. Tanner, commencing his fourth term as head of the branch, stated in a brief address, that although veterans of the last war are still heading the procession in the Legion, things are changing rapidly.

It will not be long until the new veterans take the lead, he said. He said each class of veteran could learn much from the other.

Honorary President Lt.-Col. E. Brown, MM, ED, officiated in presentations of a handsome cigarette case to President Tanner and suitable gifts to Mrs. Tanner and Mrs. W. J. Williams, wife of Secretary-Manager W. J. Williams.

An entertainment program followed under the direction of Jack Jones.

The following participated: Tenor solo, Bill Smith; song and tap dance, Jimmy Grant; soprano solo, Shirley Neher; accordionist and vocalist, Sylvia Quattrochi; magician, S. Sgt. Frank Herman, special service division, U.S. Army.

Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the concert. Following officers were installed: President Tanner, First Vice-president J. C. Macdonald; second Vice-president Percy Gwynne; executive members, Alex Riddell, G. Scott, Percy Cowley, Jack McLean, Sidney Bowcott, Frank Booth and Anders Anderson.

Full Military Honors Will Be Paid To Maj.-Gen. Griesbach at Funeral

Full military honors will be paid to the late Maj.-Gen. Hon. W. A. Griesbach, CB, CMG, DSO, VD, at a funeral service and procession from All Saints Cathedral Wednesday commencing at 2 p.m. Dean A. M. Trendell will be in charge of the service.

Burial will be made in the family plot of the Edmonton Cemetery.

The flag-draped coffin, preceded by the regimental band of the Second (Reserve) Bn. The Loyal Edmonton Regiment, will head the procession with the general's charger carrying his military boots behind the gun limber bearing the coffin.

Medals and decorations of the general will be carried by a veteran of the First Great War, who will march beside the gun carriage.

The 2nd (Reserve) Bn. The Loyal Edmonton Regiment will parade at full strength with the escort for the coffin and the firing party composed of companies of the Veterans Guard of Canada from Wetaskiwin and Camrose.

Members of the 49th Bn. Association, of which General Griesbach was president, will also march in the funeral procession, as will units of the RCMP and city police.

Minute guns totalling 13 will boom a salute along the line of march.

TRIBUTE FROM COMRADES

On behalf of the 49th Battalion Association, representing the 6,000 men from Edmonton and Northern Alberta who served in the 49th Battalion during the Great War of 1914-1918, Earle Hay, secretary, on Tuesday issued the following tribute:

Our beloved friend and comrade is dead and his loss is a great blow to our association members. He understood us, and we him, in a very close relationship that few, other than ex-soldiers, can ever realize. No man with a wrong to be righted, or in need of deserving help, ever went to General Griesbach without a genuine, personal effort being made to get something done. He was more than a common friend to the soldier, no matter what his rank, as well as to thousands in all walks of civilian life. He made decisions with justice and he will ever be remembered as a gallant leader who moulded the men of our battalion into a fighting unit, whose members, without exception, were devoted to him.

General Griesbach well deserved the loyal support he was always given by his men. The part he played in holding old soldiers of the 49th in close association, ever since their return to civilian life, is noteworthy and we proudly paid allegiance to our faithful president. All Canada must recall without question or stint how, both in and out of parliament, the senate and the seasons, he diligently foretold and warned of what lay ahead, and of what eventually did happen when the Nazis plunged the world into war.

His place in our midst cannot be filled. We mourn his loss. His efforts on behalf of returned service-stand on vital matters, to do with recognized and his courageous men generally were never fully the defence of Canada and the widespread welfare of our country, sprang from honest conviction for what he believed to be right.

Our heartfelt sympathy goes out to Mrs. Griesbach, who well understands the love and respect we had for the General. He has left us an upright gentleman and gallant priceless legacy in the memory of soldier who gave of his best that we might benefit.

Harry D. Lynn, president of the Edmonton Branch of the Army and Navy Veterans of Canada; General Griesbach's sudden death is a great personal shock. At different times he was Dominion and provincial command president. Here in Edmonton he once headed our branch and was still most active in affairs of the club.

He was chairman of our association board of trustees here and a member of our building committee.

As a leader of men he was outstanding and he always had the welfare of the soldier close to his heart.

Claims Damages In Supreme Court

Damages totalling $10,429 are sought in a supreme court action brought by Miss Anne Lastiwika, Smoky Lake district resident, against Andrew Shynka, Smoky Lake storekeeper, for injuries received when she fell through an unprotected cellar door in the defendant's shop. Hearing of the action started Tuesday before Mr. Justice W. A. Macdonald.

The accident occurred on Jan. 8, 1943, when the plaintiff entered the store to make a purchase. The trap door to the cellar was open, and no light was showing from the cellar. The trap-door was unprotected and unlighted, it is claimed. As a result of her fall it is claimed the plaintiff received bruises and injuries that resulted in the shortening of the right leg.

Changing Times Said Cause of Altered Methods

Changes of curriculum and methods of teaching in Canada's school system are "dictated" by the changing times, four speakers were agreed at a meeting of the Montclair Home and School Association held in the Westmount Community Hall Monday night.

Viewpoints of a widely varied kind were obtained with four groups being verbally represented in the discussion as follows:

Louis Hyndman, K.C., professional men; Mrs. Frances Lattier, office workers; F. E. Thompson, returned soldiers; and E. E. Sexsmith, business men.

The time-honored "three R's" now no longer fill the bill in the modern world. There must be more technical training in the schools of tomorrow because it is a technical world in which we live, Mr. Sexsmith declared.

He also advocated closer co-ordination between public and high schools.

Mr. Sexsmith felt the kind of education where a student works while learning and learns while working should be introduced.

Most country boys have been leaving school in Grades three or four and this leaves them handicapped in a modern world.

The composite type of school, with all subjects taught under one roof, was strongly favored by the speaker.

He also felt that physical education in the gymnasium and swimming pool should be emphasized.

As a former soldier, the speaker was strongly in favor of cadet training in the schools.

Formal teaching of grammar should be stressed more heavily in the schools, he declared.

It was recalled that four members of the home defence army, convicted by court martial following disturbances at Terrace, B.C., last November were sentenced to two years less one day in jail for offences against the Army Act.

Pacific Command officials said last night that a number of men gave themselves up at the Little Mountain barracks here yesterday following warning that persons harboring any of the deserters faced prosecution. Officials said the men themselves were subject to court martial and liable to penal servitude or other punishments.

Yes, salads simple, dance with flavour when you add this piquant mustard dressing. It's sharp and spicy... has a mouth-watering goodness that will make your reputation as a cook.

What's the secret? It's the smooth, tongue-tingling nip you add with Libby's Prepared Mustard. There's a world of distinctive flavour in every sparkling spoonful. Keep a jar handy and use it often!

Wake up Salads with This Mustard Salad Dressing:

- 1/2 pint sour cream
- 4 tablespoons Libby's Prepared Mustard
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons icing sugar
- 2 tablespoons vinegar
- 1 cup whipped cream

Beat together sour cream, mustard, salt, sugar and vinegar. When well blended, stir in cup of whipped cream. Makes about 1 pint dressing.

the schools as most office workers have an inadequate knowledge of this subject, Miss Lattier said. The best way to unify Canada is to unify its educational system from coast to coast, she declared.

Mr. Hyndman said that thinking is becoming a lost art and as a result there is lack of words for adequate expression. He thought that education should be compulsory to the end of the seveneenth year.

TEACHERS SALARIES

Far from any reduction in school taxation it ought to be increased in order that teachers' salaries could be raised to a level where the best types would be attracted to the profession, Mr. Hyndman concluded.

Jack Day was chairman and about 100 attended.

The meeting is one of a series of four.

Say 400 Farmers To Attend Course

It is expected that about 400 district farmers will attend the agricultural short course being sponsored by the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce in co-operation with the department of agriculture. The course will be held in Edmonton on Feb. 21, 22 and 23.

Classes on the first day will be held in the Memorial Hall and on subsequent days in the Masonic Temple.

Last year was the first time the course was offered and it was met with such enthusiasm from the 250 farmers who enrolled that it was decided to extend the length of the course from two to three days.

According to Reg. T. Rose, executive secretary of the Chamber, quite an increase in enrollment is anticipated this year. Many farmers adjacent to the city are able to come in for the classes each day returning home at night.

D-Day Battles Described by Eye-Witness

Tribute to the operations of the British Air Command which pulverized German defences and kept German airplanes out of the air during the battles that preceded the liberation of Paris was paid by Maj. H. G. Scott in an eye-witness description of the invasion battles given before an audience of the Men's and Women's Canadian Clubs at McDougall United Church Monday night.

He also paid tribute to the "unconquerable" British infantry.

Major Scott is touring Canada under the auspices of the Men's and Women's Canadian Clubs. He was with the British Intelligence Corps in Greece during the Great War, and served with the Intelligence department at Ottawa at the outbreak of this conflict. Later he acted as liaison officer between Canadian and Allied forces.

He was introduced by E. W. S. Kane, K.C., past president of the Canadian Club.

WAS PRESENT

Major Scott, as a war correspondent, was present during the heavy air bombardments of Caen and Caumont, and told of the successful attacks by the British and Americans when not a single German plane appeared in the skies, nor a single German battery opened up. He said that the German defenses were pulverized in the greatest open air attack ever carried out.

He described the rejoicing of the French when Paris was liberated, and emphasized the importance of the jubilant entry of General Charles De Gaulle into that city.

The Most Favored Section

Speaking at Regina, Hon. J. G. Gardiner suggested that western farmers reduce wheat acreage this year two or three million acres.

Not, he said, because he thinks there is too much wheat in the world or is even convinced that there is too much in Canada, but because there is urgent need of growing more feed grain and more oil-bearing crops, such as flax-seed and sweet clover for pasture.

This is in line with the considered and consistent farm policy the Minister has advocated and followed. Mr. Gardiner is and has been an exponent of more mixed farming in the west—hence of less extensive wheat-growing in sections which are naturally adapted to stock-raising.

Outside Manitoba, no part of the west is so well fitted for this type of farming as central and northern Alberta. Water, pasture and shelter in this zone provide ideal basic conditions for stock-raising, and the production of dairy, meat and other non-cereal supplies.

If it is correct that mixed farming is the most dependable kind of farming, this is the part of the west where nature has underwritten agriculture.

Again—Welcome

Last week the United Farmers of Alberta held their annual convention in Edmonton. This week the convention of the Alberta Farmers' Union is being held here. It is expected 400 or more delegates will be present. Two conventions in two weeks emphasize Edmonton's position as the farm centre of Alberta.

The people of the city will of course extend in spirit to the present gathering the hearty welcome they gave to the former one. And for the same reasons. Good neighborliness requires it. And whatever better the economic position of the farming community must react to stabilize and improve employment and living conditions in the city.

Which is to say that the self-interest motive is not absent from the minds of Edmonton people as they watch the proceedings at a farmers' convention. It isn't absent, and why should it be? The man on the farm and the man with a town job have one thing in common. Each aims to make a living, a better living if he can.

The farming population of the province would benefit if Edmonton had a product-consuming population five times what it now is. Conversely, Edmonton will benefit, and its population grow, in proportion as the farmers can work themselves into more prosperous conditions. The more clearly this inter-locking of interests is recognized, the better it will be for both parties.

Hungary Gets Out

Hungary has got out of the war—the hard way of unconditional surrender and a dictated peace.

The terms are not severe. Rumania, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia get back the territory the Fuehrer took from them and gave to Hungary. The war indemnity is $300,000,000. The Hungarians are to put at least eight infantry divisions in the field against Germany.

Hungary was the last of the satellite states, Austria coming under the heading of a conquered country. The Nazi empire has thus dwindled to the dimensions of 1939, plus Denmark and occupied portions of Holland and Norway.

The broad reaction in Germany must be one of discouragement. But among non-Nazi Germans there may be also a feeling of hope. That Hungary was dealt with leniently should suggest to them the utter nonsense of the Goebbels' pretence that the Allies intend to loose unbridled vengeance upon Germans, without discrimination as to guilt, innocence or responsibility, and to wipe the German state off the map.

Hungary is still a political entity; and its people have not been massacred. That should indicate to a non-Nazi German that the Allies are still civilized countries, and that their attitude toward a defeated Germany will be inspired by justice, not by blood-lust.

Breslau

Breslau, the German city at which Berlin radio says the southern Russian drive is directly aimed, is situated on the Oder river, some thirty miles inside the border of the Reich. It is the capital of the province of Silesia, and had a population around three-quarters of a million in pre-war times.

Breslau is the chief industrial centre of eastern Germany. In peacetime it was notable for iron-founding and the manufacture of machinery, linen, clothes, railway carriages, paper and furniture.

Located close to the great coal fields and iron deposits of Upper Silesia, the city has become in wartime the greatest munitions centre in the Reich outside of the Ruhr. Its capture would correspond to the capture of Coblenz, at which the Allied armies on the western front are aiming.

Breslau is 202 miles by railway from Berlin, roughly the distance from Edmonton to Calgary; less than from Edmonton to Jasper. It is about 900 miles in straight line from Moscow—within sight of which city German forces stood three years ago. This comparison of distances shows how completely the situation has reversed.

The Oder is said to be the greatest natural barrier on the eastern road to Berlin. It is expected that along this stream the enemy will make an all-out stand. In which event Breslau is likely to follow in the tradition of Budapest and Stalingrad.

Japan is calculated to have lost 500,000 tons of merchant shipping in the last month, bringing its total losses since the war began up to five and a half million tons. It was supposed to have about eight million tons when it launched the land-grab campaign. There is no comfort for Tokyo in the fact that the rate of loss has gone up as the field of maritime war has narrowed. It is losing ships faster now than at any other period.

RAF and RCAF planes evidently picked worth while targets when they attacked Nazi submarine "pens" at Bergen, Norway. Even the Luftwaffe took to the air to ward off the raiders, and the ground fire was intense. These sheltered refuelling places must be vital to the U-boat campaign, judging by the fury of the attempt to defend them. These, it may be surmised, are the bases from which Admiral Donetz' submarines are operating in their revived attacks on Allied Atlantic convoys.

V-bombs killed 367 people in southern England during December. During 1944 they killed 8,465, and injured more than 21,000. While no classification has been given out, the majority of the victims no doubt were civilians, of all ages and both sexes. These non-directable missiles are not military weapons. They are instruments for indiscriminate slaughter, used by men who care not whom they kill so long as they kill someone. One thing the V-bomb should have accomplished by this time. It should have converted the last "soft peace" advocate in England.

Part of the object of Gen. Booth's visit to the Northwest and British Columbia was to secure a tract of 10,000 acres of land on which to start a rescue farm. He was unable to secure such a tract in British Columbia, and Leo Gaez of Red Deer called upon him at Calgary to see what could be done toward securing the farm, and its probable expenditure of 5,000 pounds a year, for Red Deer. No decision has yet been announced. The Bulletin wishes Gen. Booth and the Salvation Army well in their many schemes, but it is of the opinion that it would be very much better for this country to contribute 5,000 pounds a year toward the support of the proposed rescue farm, say in South Africa or Borneo, than to allow one to be established in Alberta. The idea that the Canadian Northwest is a suitable dumping ground for the off-scourings of the earth should be exploded as quickly as possible. This is a good country for good men, but it is no place at all for the tough or useless.

Gardiner and Floor Prices

Act Is Important Item in Reconstruction Policies

By GRANT DEXTER

While not involving credit in the sense of lending money, the Floor Prices Act is an important item in the reconstruction policies already put forward by the Government. The act already has been discussed.

With respect to the way in which price floors will be applied there is only one authoritative statement. It was made by Hon. J. G. Gardiner during the debates on this measure. No other member of the Government spoke.

Most people regard floor prices as a means by which agriculture can be assisted to adjust itself from war to peacetime production. The great expansion of 1914-18, and the consequences which followed will be remembered. It is surprising, however, to find Mr. Gardiner supporting this measure largely on the grounds of compensation to agriculture for presumed sacrifices made in this war.

Mr. Gardiner argued that the farmers have done badly this time and he sought to prove his point by comparing farm prices in the two wars. He had little difficulty in showing that prices in 1916-17 were higher than in 1942-43. About the only exception was cheese. But even here, the price of cheese advanced beyond current prices in 1917-18.

The point was that there were no price ceilings in the last war whereas, in Mr. Gardiner's view, the present price ceilings have prevented the farmer from making more money. Several statistical tables were placed on Hansard by Mr. Gardiner to substantiate this line of argument. But at no point in his speech did he so much as mention the gain made by farmers in the present war because of the ceiling on the prices of what they buy. This side of the price ceiling policy he ignored.

This phase of Mr. Gardiner's argument can best be illustrated by a few quotations. He said (page 5740, unrevised Hansard):

"Then, as we read everything which is in the bill, and everything which has been said from time to time, the intention is to take into consideration all the things that have been done in relation to farm products during the period of the war and particularly during the period of price control, and then in any transition period following the war, whenever it is declared that the terms of the bill be applied to a product during that period, we apply the terms of this bill in such a way as to see to it that anything at all that the farmer was denied by way of price through control during the war is made up to him during the period of transition after the war, in order that he may maintain his position among the different producers and consumers."

Again (page 5741):

"Then I should say that it would be unfair to the farmer immediately to require him to sell at the cost of production, without considering at all any losses he sustained because of the war or any returns he was denied through the controls established during the war."

Other quotations could be given along the same line. But the only point is that Mr. Gardiner regards it as one of the chief purposes of the floor prices policy to "compensate" farmers for having been "denied higher returns during wartime."

There was, as well, nothing in Mr. Gardiner's speeches to indicate that the floor prices would be used as a means of facilitating the adjustments in agriculture necessary to place it on an independent, self-sustaining footing.

On the other hand, he clearly foreshadowed a two-price system, whereby the price to consumers in Canada would be higher than the world price and, therefore, any domestic surplus would have to be dumped abroad. He made no effort to defend such a course except by an appeal to the precedents established by other countries. A quotation or two will illustrate his point. At page 5710, he said:

"I suppose some critics of the present plan would suggest that we may be setting up something to which other countries will object, namely, two price levels, one of our own people and one for the people we are to trade with. In other words, when we have great surpluses here we may sell them cheaper some place else than the price at which we sell them in Canada. I would just like to say in regard to that, that we would have a lot of pretty good company if we did that. Australia and New Zealand were doing that before the war started. The United States did it for a year or two before the war started."

Again, page 5782: "I said . . . that the matter

Famous Players' 25th Birthday

Theatre Chain Celebrates A Quarter Century of Service

By HAROLD L. WEIR

I am not one of those who may be described as a movie fan. I do not haunt the picture houses week in and week out. I cannot be called a "regular patron."

Nevertheless, I turn aside with real pleasure from the more humdrum business of journalism to offer my congratulations and those of The Edmonton Bulletin to the Famous Players Canadian Corporation Limited which this week celebrates the 25th anniversary of its establishment in this country.

I offer my felicitations to the Harold L. Weir Messrs. Entwistle—Alex. Arnold and Clarence—who have been associated in Edmonton with the Famous Players for 15 years.

And to Walter Wilson and his fellow managers here I say "Happy Birthday." You have given me pretty keen pleasure, upon occasion, and a lot of wholesome relaxation.

There are certain facts which should be told in connection with this anniversary.

For instance, the war effort of the Famous Players is to be regarded with respect.

J. J. Flaggibbons, president of the Famous Players, is also national chairman of the Canadian Motion Picture War Service Committee and his organization takes the view, with justice and sound sense, that the movie houses have contributed tremendously to the morale of both the civilian and military population during war time.

That, of course, goes without saying.

But the Famous Players houses, along with others, have rendered an invaluable service to Canada in a more direct sense.

The screen which has been consistently denied to commercial users has been given freely to promote the sale of victory bonds and war savings stamps. It has been used to stimulate blood donors' services, salvage campaigns and other direct war enterprises.

Moreover, Famous Players has been instrumental in bringing from Hollywood some of the biggest stars in the industry to make personal appearances in behalf of these various national drives.

The war effort of Famous Players, then, has been notably vigorous and effective. Both the minister of finance and the national salvage organization have paid public tribute to it.

And then there is another and more personal thing I should like to say about Famous Players and, indeed, about all the theatres in Canada.

I am not going to fall into the old cliché about the motion picture being a great educational factor in this generation. Frankly, I don't know whether it is or not. Sometimes I have my doubts. But the screen does offer excellent instructive features along with the occasional sicklier ventures into romance which induce a somewhat perverted view of life.

Let's be completely honest about it. However, I don't think talking pictures stand or fall on their educational value. I don't think they stand or fall entirely upon their artistic value—although, along with much that is mediocre and much that is actually bad, the industry has touched upon real peaks of artistry on many occasions. Certainly one good picture more than counterbalances twenty bad ones. One loses little by seeing a great deal by seeing a good one.

This, however, is beside the point. As I say, motion pictures do not stand or fall on either their educational value or their artistic value.

What determines their usefulness is the manner in which they widen or diminish the horizons of human life. In this respect, and from a purely human standpoint, I think the motion picture has contributed prodigiously to the welfare of this generation.

I am unalterably opposed to those forms of entertainment which induce young people to take their adventure vicariously. The radio thriller, for instance, stimulates the imagination because it offers a synthetic imaginative life which tends to replace the real thing. The thriller addict's adventurous experience is limited to the capacity of a loud-speaker.

It is the virtue of the motion picture, on the other hand, that it whets the imagination instead of satisfying it.

The young person learns, through the pictures, that there are other lands besides his own. He finds that on every continent there are millions of sorrow, hopes and ambitions as his own.

He discovers that the emotions which stir in his own heart are shared by his brothers of every race. He becomes conscious of a kinship with them.

The pictures, in other words, serve to develop and emphasize the common denominators that run through all human life.

This is an important thing. It is a humanizing influence that ranks with education and art.

The pictures do this job well.

So I think the birthday of Famous Players is an occasion to be celebrated by everybody.

Famous Players, with their fine theatres from coast to coast, purvey a form of entertainment that has a vital place in the life of every community.

Critics Answered

Letters to the Minneapolis Star Journal

Sir:—Hitler opened the hunting season on Englishmen about five years ago. During this five-year period I know of not a single instance where any of the thousands of English livers in this country has gone over to Germany and put on a soldier's uniform, where the hungry desire to kill Englishmen could have been gratified. It is so much easier to sit back in a country like ours with all its comforts, where no bombs have fallen, where no women and children have been murdered or tortured, and just criticize.—F. G. Gabrielson.

Devils Lake, N.D.

Sir:—In answer to the letter criticizing the British, it is just little bits of dissonance like this which our dear friends Adolf and Hermann like to point out to the Germans to keep up their morale. Your correspondent wrote of England paying back her war debt. Maybe he forgets that before the Allies invaded France all "planes had to take off and land in England. During this time many American "planes were shot down or forced down in the English channel or in the North Sea. These American "planes were rescued by the air-sea rescue service run by the English. The fact that four out of every five men were rescued has caused many an American flyer and parent to say that England's war debt to them is paid in full.—Charles Beals, Minneapolis.

Sir:—We all know before reading Drew Pearson's column of Dec. 21 that the American men and boys fighting on the western front far outnumbered the British. As he tells us, the ratio is about 30 percent British to 70 percent American.

If Winston Churchill and Anthony Eden were Americans those figures would be entirely different. With these two, it is Great Britain first, last and always.—Mrs. John Flynn, Minneapolis.

To the above the Star Journal appends this Editor's Note: Let us forget—in maintaining supply lines serving all of the Allies in this war, Britain lost up to the end of 1943, 21,921 merchant ships, or the equivalent of two-thirds of her merchant tonnage at the outbreak of war, plus 29,629 merchant seamen not including 4,173 interned by the enemy. In 1943 British ships transported 865,000 American soldiers. To free enough shipping to keep Allied armies supplied, she trimmed her food imports to one-half their pre-war level. Wholly aside from the men in her vital merchant navy, Britain had 4,500,000 men in the armed services in June, 1944. This represents one for every 10 Englishmen in the entire population. The United States the ratio is one to 12.

Plastic Eye

C-L OVAL

—A Canadian soldier who lost an eye at Dieppe is wearing an all-plastic artificial eye as a result of the ingenuity and efforts of a Montreal dental technician.

Germany controls the glass eye industry and glass eyes may no longer be available when present stocks are depleted. Meanwhile the casualties of war are increasing. The wounded then are coming home, many of them having lost an eye. They are suffering from the psychological effect of their disfigurement. They need artificial eyes. The all-plastic artificial eye will be an invaluable contribution to their welfare.

For the moment neither the past nor the future matters. How to get through the day or the week is the Roman's chief problem. Anyone attempting to do so on an unearned income or on wages alone is hard put to it to survive.

Try Traitors
LONDON DAILY MAIL.

—Official lists—now almost complete—are being compiled of British and US subjects who live in Axis territory and are paid from Axis sources. British traitors number up to 50—half of them women—and there is about the same total of American quailings.

Records of what they have said over the enemy radio have been made and kept, to be taken into court as proof of the voices of the speakers.

They face trial when Germany is defeated. The British are liable to prosecution under the Treachery Act, which carries the death penalty.

A broadcast does not in itself constitute treachery, a legal expert said—it depends what the speaker says.

Evil Publicity

OTTAWA, Jan. 23.—(RUP)—In an editorial entitled "That Absent Without Leave Mess," the Ottawa Journal Monday said the "immediate pity of the NRMA absenteeism" is the evil publicity it gives to Canada, and to Canada's war effort among our Allies.

"For every thousand in the United States and Britain who will take the trouble to know our over-all war story there will be a million who will read only the headlines of this pitiful, comparatively unimportant episode, perhaps judge us accordingly. More, this whole business must be directed to our own people, must bring to them a sense of shame and humiliation, and a lowering of morale," the Journal said.

The paper said the entire problem "goes back to our failure in the first place to have compulsory military service . . . our military manpower, policy was conceived in party politics, was cradled and nurtured in party politics, is being maintained in party politics, and the results we all know."

As a result of this situation no one is inclined to work. Wages mean nothing. Everyone is engaged in buying and selling, and, of course, stealing has reached unheard-of proportions. At night the streets of Rome, which were always thronged with a people who delight in long evening chatter in doorways and cafes, are utterly deserted because there has been so much robbery with violence. Nor does one meet a carabinieri at night from one end of town to another, for carabinieri earn only 1,200 lire a month and get one free meal a day in barracks. On such a diet a man cannot do more than a few hours' duty a day.

People are hungry and cold here. An Italian friend who works in the Allied Commission and who has sent her children to Florence to relatives told me that she can hardly manage the eight hours' work a day. The reason was obvious. She does not get enough to eat. A.C. as it is called here, supplies a plate of soup at midday for its Italian employees. For many this is the only hot meal they get. The winter is blessedly mild so far, with sunshining every day. It is a cold sun, and when it sets people go home to their palatial bare rooms with no possibility of heating. Charcoal is practically unobtainable. There is no coal, and paraffin costs 150 lire a litre, or 35 and 90 a pint, and is rising daily.

The Vatican soup kitchens provide midday soup for something like 10,000 extremely poor folk, who queue with their tin cans in various parts of the city. A very few restaurants are open at prices which are fabulous, even for the Allies. Lunch costs anything from 15s. to 25s. a head. Girls of obviously good family are out on the Via Veneto at night playing a trade they would never have remotely envisaged but for hunger.

This is the background of the undestroyed city of Rome. It is a bankrupt city in the full tide of inflation, and it is a half-starved city. Economic conditions are fantastic. A fairly senior Italian Foreign Office official draws 2,600 lire a month salary. An Italian chauffeur employed by the Allies draws anything up to 6,000 lire a month. A bootblack in the streets (and there are about a hundred of these, aged between eight and 14, alone in the Via Veneto, a hilly street some 1,000 yards long) earns as much as 1,000,

Today's Sport Parade

By Jack Cuddy

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—(BUP)—A whirl on the sports go round: racing would have the horse laugh on other commercial sports if the ban against the bangtails is lifted when the Allies get a decisive break in the European war theatre, as some turf optimists predict. . . Since there are no 4-F horses (except those we bet on) the gee gees then would be running, while other sports might be closed by threatening work or legislation, or operating under terrific manpower handicaps.

Manager Leo Durocher, who wore of watching other National League teams beat the bobby Sox, off his Brooklyn juveniles last season, say he is "ready, willing and able" to play at his old shortstop position this season—his attempted come back last year ended on the first day of spring training when he suffered a fractured finger.

Speaking of fractures, Jack Carberry—nationally known sports editor of The Denver Post—suffered a broken left leg and a flock of bruises when struck by a taxi cab in Denver last week. . . Like the feller in the ancient wardrobe story, Jack was just waiting for a street car when the accident occurred. . . A horse named Coronado Smoke Track at Tijuana, Mexico, yesterday to win the feature whirl in a photo finish from Mrs. Archie Sneed's With Regard. . . Cigar smokers, who played the hunch, won by a puff.

SHOULD TRY THESE

BASEBALL scouts might try out these two fellers as catchers: (1) Ted Christie, New York featherweight, fighting at Cleveland last Wednesday night was saved by the bell in the first round, hit while on the canvas and allowed time to recover in the third round, and belted out in the fourth.

(2) Charlie Robinson dropped a six round decision Thursday night to Louis Long in Camden, N.J.; then motored across the river to Philadelphia where, less than an hour later, he was knocked out in the third round by Henry Allen.

The Hawkeyes of Iowa can't be too happy about their precarious perch atop the big ten basketball standing, in view of Ohio State's rapid improvement. . . Iowa squeezed out a 29-27 victory over Michigan; but the very next night second place Ohio State trounced the same Michigan outfit, 61-47. . . That's why the Hawkeyes are eyeing the Ohio Club.

STAYS OUT OF RED

OUR AGENT, K-9-1/2, reports from Miami that the Hialeah race course has become the city's No. 1 tourist attraction, although the horses no longer compete there. An average of 450 go to Hialeah daily to see the pink flamingoes. Royal Palm Drive, club house and botanical garden.

Agent K-9-1/2 says, "it is much cheaper to see the pink flamingoes than it was to see red after a race."

Col. Larry McPhail won't say "it ain't so" when asked if he may become national sports co-ordinator. . . He admits taking an army physical exam last week, but declines to comment on said investigation of his chassis. . . Anyway the work or fight proposals in the May Bill certainly made converts out of those sports leaders who, prior to last week, scoffed at the necessity for a co-ordinator. . . Now they're all prayin' for one—belatedly.

Joe Not So Sure It's One Defence

OTTAWA, Jan. 23.—(CP)—S. Sgt. Joe Louis, world heavyweight boxing champ here to referee RCAF bouts, Monday hedged on a recent declaration he would retire after one post-war defence of his title against Billy Conn.

"You're sure you mean it, Joe?" a reporter asked at a press conference. "Are there some inducements to make you stay in the game for a while longer?"

Joe's eyes twinkled and he grinned broadly: "Well, I'll admit there are lots of things that might make me change my mind."

As he said this he rubbed his fingers expressively as though he were caressing greenbacks.

Says CCF Govt. Is Repudiating An Honest Debt

REGINA, Jan. 23.—(CP)—W. J. Patterson, former Liberal premier and opposition leader in the Saskatchewan legislature, said yesterday that the Douglas CCF government is attempting to have Federal Finance Minister Flavel pay the bill of CCF election promises in respect to seed grain advances. In a lengthy review of the advances arrangements before a meeting of the Saskatchewan Liberal Association Council, Mr. Patterson said the CCF government was attempting to repudiate "an honest, honorable and legal debt."

Wyn Hall Sets New High Triple In Eaton Trophy

The T. Eaton trophy doubles event in five-pin bowling was won on Saturday by MacDonald and Wyn Hall with a score of 1,497 pins. Vi Fleming and Walter Ewenson gave the winners a run for it by rolling 1,470 pins. The doubles scores were not quite so high as usual, but there were some very fine individual efforts.

Wyn Hall's three game score of 942 pins was the highest yet rolled in this event. Wyn had games of 347-265-330, which is excellent rolling in any league. His 347 was also good enough to tie the high single with Cliff Lillemo, who also rolled 347.

Again 300 scores were quite common. There were ten 300 games as well as 14 700 triples scores, two 800 triples and one 900 triple.

MacDonald-Wyn Hall 1,497; Vi Fleming-Walter Ewenson 1,470; Gylander-Bob English, 1,456; Jack McCullum-Lloyd Frith 1,451; Jim Blower-Les Keen 1,443.

High single, Wyn Hall and Cliff Lillemo 347; high triple, Wyn Hall 942.

300 SCORES
Wyn Hall 317, 330; Cliff Lillemo 347; Walt Ramsey 343; Jack McCullum 341; Bob English 318; Les Keen 312; Dan Taylor 303; Marion Graham 303.

700 SCORES
Bob English 769; Cliff Lillemo 780; Gylander 784; Les Keen 781; Jack Myler 781; Dan Taylor 745; Eddie Beckwith 740; Jim Rutherford 738, 716; Vi Fleming 738; Walter Ewenson 738, 718; Spud Muir 714; Wyn Hall 701.

800 scores—Jack McCullum 839; Walt Ramsey 835.
900 scores—Wyn Hall 912.

LEADERS TO DATE
E. Ober 15 points; R. Lloyd 15; V. Fleming 14; W. Hall 13; E. Beckwith 12; J. Edwards 12; C. Lillemo 12; J. Rutherford 11; E. Cramer 10; G. Poole 10.

CANADIAN SPORTSHOTS

By SYD THOMAS

TORONTO, Jan. 23.—(CP)—We got quite a shock when we read the first few lines of an Edmonton dispatch the other day. It said that Edmonton Canadians, of the Junior Hockey League out there would "co-operate" with Hawks. Remembering a recent comment by Andy Lytle, of the Toronto Star, who suggested Hawks might dispense with their road trips and let a junior team play in their stead, the natural reaction was: "This is it."

However, it seems that Hawks only want players from the Canadians—and will pay well for the privilege of scrapping up a little talent wherever it can be found.

INCIDENTALS:
Opposing rubber slingers, especially on Detroit Red Wings' squad, have been keeping Toronto Goaltender Frank McCool so busy he has had to relinquish his sport writing duties with the Toronto Star on a daily basis. Once a week is all he can manage now.

Would-be Methuselahs are taking up curling in Edmonton now, after coming over the ages of present-day curlers in the Alberta capital. Starting from the top, ages of players in a recent bonspiel were 77, 76, 73, with a good crop of spry 71 and 70-year-olds.

GOOD NEIGHBOR SCHEME
LONDON.—(CP)—Halbora borough has inaugurated a "good neighbor" scheme to enable bomb-damaged residents to start refitting their homes. Household items that escaped bomb damage have been given by the mayor to give furniture and other household articles to the less fortunate.

Ran Second Nine Times

Alex Barth Season's Hard Luck Champ.

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 23.—(AP)—If they had blood banks for thoroughbreds, Alex Barth might have wound up 1944 as horse of the year. Instead, he was voted the season's hard-luck champion.

The Millbrook Stable's son of Chance Play-Joybird, now five years old, earned $95,500—pretty good for a horse the vets said was anemic all summer and hadn't nearly enough blood to be out there running.

Once a cheap plaster known as Poacher, claimed, from the Coldstream Stable in August, 1943, for $3,500, Alex last season ran second nine times. He lost photo finishes in four $50,000 stakes. Trainer Jimmy Hastie insists Alex should have won all four— "sometimes it was the horse's fault; others, bad racing luck. In the Trenion handicap, he waited for Bon Jour to catch up, and lost a close one."

First money in those nine losing races amounted to $216,040. Alex's second shares totalled $52,000—a difference of $164,040.

"The horse was far from top condition," says Hastie. "His owners, Lou Nimickoff—who since has passed away—and Bernie Millberg kept planning to lay him off after the 'next race'. But he kept running so well, we always postponed it 'one more race', waiting for Alex to look bad and give us the stop signal, which he never did."

His three-months vacation since running at New York in October has done wonders for Alex. He has gained 150 pounds and improved 100 per cent, relates Hastie, who claims "there isn't a horse in the country who could beat him now. He'll run away from handicap stars when racing resumes."

BLITZ STOMACHS
LONDON.—(CP)—Dr. E. C. Warner, medical superintendent of Ashridge Emergency hospital, said in badly-raided places like London the figures for gastric troubles are three times higher during the raids than normal, with anxiety the main cause.

Moose Jaw Beats Commandos 6-5

REGINA, Jan. 23.—(CP)—Moose Jaw's powerful Canucks showed their power here Monday night when they came through with four straight goals in the third period to beat Regina Commandos 6-5 and stay in top place in the Southern Saskatchewan Junior Hockey League.

The Canucks were down 3-2 going into the third when they rapped in the four counters that gave them the game. Scorers were Jackie Miller with two, Lou Hauck, Metro Prystai, Clarence Marquis and Dick Butler. Regina marksmen were George Beach, who accounted for three goals, Paddy Ryan and Jim Fairburn.

One of the biggest crowds of the season saw the game.

REBUILD OLD CHURCH

NORWICH, Norfolk.—(CP)—A fund has been launched to restore the ancient church of St. Julian, destroyed by enemy action two years ago. Mother Julian, a great English mystic, lived 40 years in a cell in this church.

Says Doubtful If Landis Successor Will Be Named

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—(AP)—There probably will be discussion of a new commissioner to govern baseball when the major leagues hold their joint meeting at New York Feb. 3, but in the opinion of William Harbridge, president of the American League, it is doubtful if a man who replaces the late Kenesaw Mountain Landis will be elected.

"I do not believe they want to rush into an election without taking sufficient time to discuss possible candidates," he said.

The 10-man committee which drew up a new major league agreement will meet in New York Feb. 2 to approve a final formal draft, and the joint meeting of the league will be held the following day to approve the document.

Peg Navy Loses To Port Arthur

PORT ARTHUR, Jan. 23.—(CP)—Port Arthur Shipbuilders, Western Canada senior hockey champions, scored a 4-3 victory over Winnipeg's HMCS Chippawa here last night to make a clean sweep of their two exhibition hockey games. Port Arthur won the first game 6-1 Saturday.

Norm Wright, Waikato Kolivisto, Jack Marshall and Callum McKay counted for Shipbuilders, while L.W. Len Reisse netted two and L.S. Hal Laycoe one for Chippawa.

Providence Star Is Leading Again

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 23.—(AP)—A three-goal, eight-assists barrage by Paul Courteau of Quebec City enabled the Providence star to regain the top spot in the American Hockey League's sizzling individual scoring race Monday.

The official figures released by President Maurice Podoloff credit Courteau with 57 points, including 29 goals. Bob Gracie and Bob Walton of Pittsburgh, tied with 34 points, are the nearest challengers.

CAHA to Discuss Senior Play-Offs

WINNIPEG, Jan. 23.—(CP)—Frank Sargent of Port Arthur, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, said in an interview Monday the association will hold a meeting Feb. 15 in Montreal to discuss national senior playoffs this spring. Dates for the Allan Cup final will probably be set.

Mr. Sargent was here to attend the funeral of Fed Mangles, CAHA secretary who died in Toronto last Wednesday.

He said present plans called for the Dominion junior final to start in Toronto April 14. It would likely be a best-of-seven series.

"You're sure you mean it, Joe?" a reporter asked at a press conference. "Are there some inducements to make you stay in the game for a while longer?"

Joe's eyes twinkled and he grinned broadly: "Well, I'll admit there are lots of things that might make me change my mind."

As he said this he rubbed his fingers expressively as though he were caressing greenbacks.

District News in Brief

Braithwaite Heads Red Deer UFA

RED DEER: C. R. Braithwaite was re-elected president of the Red Deer local of the United Farmers of Alberta at their annual meeting held in the City hall here, W. R. Edgar was elected vice-president and the 1945 directors are J. W. Christian, Hugh Bower, William Hazlett, R. A. Van Slyke and James Cruickshank. Appointment of a secretary was deferred as the present secretary, J. E. C. Oldford, wishes to retire.

There was a substantial increase in membership in the past year and finances were reported to be in a satisfactory condition. Because of the increased use of combines in this district handling of binder twine was discontinued last year.

Gleaned From Rural News

HARDISTY: Another war bride has arrived in Hardisty, Mrs. Louis Aude, who is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. William Aude. Louis Aude is overseas with the RCAF. The Rev. A. Baker from Mayerthorpe, who is the new minister of St. Mark's church, preached his first sermon in Hardisty on Jan. 14. He is not a stranger to Hardisty, having supplied here one summer before his ordination. A shower for Mrs. S. Bell was held at the home of Mrs. George Fodine when the guest of honor received many gifts. Luncheon was served to the guests.

CLIVE: The local Red Cross shipped to Calgary last week four large quilts, two crib quilts, 110 handkerchiefs, 35 pairs girls' pants, four infants' gowns, one girl's nightgown, three men's sweaters, three pairs stockings and one pair of socks. The Soldiers' club secretary, Mrs. Cox has received letters of thanks from the boys to whom Christmas parcels had been sent. Volunteer blood donors have been prompt in registering their names. The mobile unit is in Lacombe on Jan. 23, 24 and 25, and Clive will be well represented.

VEGREVILLE: Activities of Queen Elizabeth Guild during 1944 resulted in completion of payment for hospital equipment purchased in previous years and the undertaking of payment for the newly acquired apparatus, an electrocardiograph. Besides this equipment the Guild contributed to the annual graduation of nurses and other outside causes as follows: Hospital equipment, $325; nurses awards and graduation expenses, $31.11; children's ward Christmas treat, $10; membership annual prize, Sunshine and miscellaneous, $15; Queen's Canadian fund, $25; Chinese relief, $20; war memorial fund, $25; swimming pool, $25. Annual tag day on Nov. 18 netted $190.62 and $225 was raised by means of membership fees, was the only income during the year.

GLENDON: Victoria, three-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Drapaka, of Glendon, died in the hospital at Bonnyville on Jan. 18. Burial took place at Bonnyville.

CLYDE: The high school held a one-day bonspiel with eight rinks entered. G. Mains' rink won first, B. Brownie's second in the A, and R. Nelson first and M. Mogas second in the B. The United church held its annual meeting and supper at which a presentation was made to Mr. and Mrs. Ross. Leaders gave reports on the year's work and there was a program.

HARDISTY: Arrangements have been made to serve hot lunches to 17 school children, who eat dinner at the school. A number of the town women have undertaken to take turns making either soup or cocoa and one of the children is sent after it at noon. The teachers take turns remaining for a time at the noon hour to serve the hot beverage. The Young Peoples' Society met with Miss Doris Johnson, Christian convener, presiding. A feature of the evening was an address and showing of films and souvenirs by Miss E. Dickinson, who has been a missionary in Africa for seven years. Lunch was served by V. T. T. and Miss Rita Bebe.

VERMILION: Vermilion senior hockey team defeated Lloydminster 8 to 5 on Saturday night at Vermilion. Messier starred for Vermilion, while Kennedy of Lloydminster gave a good account of himself. President K. McEldon and secretary manager, S. C. Hebert, of the Vermilion Agricultural Society directorate left Saturday to attend the Western Canada Fair meeting at Winnipeg. They are delegates for the Fair Board.

RED DEER: Officers of Red Deer Royal Scarlet Chapter are: W. Commander, F. Ploeman; deputy commander, J. C. Prendergast; chaplain, T. Symes; scribe, G. McChesney; treasurer, A. S. Shaw; marshal, W. J. Grassy; first lecturer, A. R. Markwick; second lecturer, R. L. Burk; first conductor, C. Oldford; second conductor, E. C. Fletcher; herald, F. Carroll; sentinel, F. G. Reid. A. S. Shaw conducted the installation ceremony.

RED DEER: There were 341 donors at the Red Cross blood clinic held in the intermediate school here. The Red Deer Kinmen club sponsored the clinic, handled the campaign to get volunteers and also assisted at the clinic which was in operation for three days. The mobile unit of the Calgary Red Cross was here.

Clyde Airman Now Presumed Killed

CLYDE: Mr. and Mrs. Art Bowen received word that their son, WO1 Robert Bowen, previously reported missing, is now presumed killed. He joined the RCAF in April, 1940; graduated at No. 3 Bombing and Gunnery school at Macdonald, Man., in December, 1942, took a course in instructing, at Mountain View before going to No. 8 Bombing and Gunnery school at Lethbridge. He married Miss Margaret McKillop of MacLeod, while stationed at Lethbridge. WO1 Bowen went overseas in December, 1944, and was a gunner in the Moose squadron. His brother, Cpl. William Bowen, RCAF, is stationed in Vancouver. His father served as a gunner with the 20th Battalion during the last war.

Red Cross Meet Held at Mundare

MUNDARE: At a meeting of the Mundare Red Cross branch, held in the town hall, Frank Johnston was elected to succeed H. G. King. Other officers elected were: Vice-president, Mrs. McLeod; secretary, Mrs. B. Shulba; treasurer, Bill Shulba; financial convener, Bill Shulba; head of the women war workers, Mrs. W. Spachinski; aided by Mrs. H. Bodnar and Mrs. J. Kindrak; temporary publicity reporter, M. J. Moon.

In a report given by Mrs. Spachinski on the progress of the women war workers, a good showing was made during the past year, with 553 articles completed. These included service sweaters and socks as well as children's clothing. The attendance of workers, though decreased in number, have equalled the work done in previous years. The sum of $600 was turned in to central headquarters. The fund was raised through concerts, dances and card parties. A tag day late in the fall added to the final total. Efforts are being made to have the travelling blood clinic call at Mundare, where it is expected 100 donors from Mundare and the surrounding district will make their contributions.

With Those In Uniform

CLIVE: Cpl. A. Conrad, a former Clive boy has arrived overseas, according to word received by his sister, Mrs. R. Kane. L-Cpl. G. Hill has also arrived overseas.

HARDISTY: Pte. Tom Thomas has returned to Calgary after visiting friends in Hardisty. Gnr. Alex Preece, who returned to his home from overseas a few weeks ago, is receiving medical attention at the military hospital in Calgary. Pte. Henry Tiedeman and Mrs. Tiedeman arrived from Halifax last week. He is home on seven days' leave before returning to the East. Mrs. Tiedeman will remain in Hardisty to take over the management of Helen's beauty parlor on Jan. 18.

Glendon Red Cross Elects Officers

GLENDON: Glendon Red Cross branch held its annual meeting and election of officers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Nesimuk. Those elected were: president, Mrs. H. R. Howatt; vice-president, Mrs. W. Senzenen; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. L. H. Leach; convener of packing committee, Mrs. M. G. Nesimuk; convener of soldiers' aid committee, M. R. Sherik; auditor, Maurice Desruhe; executive committee, Mrs. Max Wintrobe, S. W. Stewart, Mrs. P. J. Lukian, Mrs. Esther Smith, Mrs. A. D. Munro, Mrs. M. MacLean and Mrs. M. Desruhe.

The treasurer's report showed that during the past year the sum of $624.53 was raised and that operating expenses were $118.77. Of the income, Rife Auxiliary alone raised the sum of $179.35. Number of articles made was 212 of which Rife accounted for 64.

Lacombe Pee-Wees Swamp Alix 7 to 0

LACOMBE: Lacombe Pee Wees swamped Alix Pee Wees 7-0 in a one-sided game played in the Lacombe arena on Saturday evening.

Hockey team from the Lacombe unit of the 78th Battery (R) defeated the Red Deer Battery team 7-2 in a hard-fought game in the Lacombe arena Saturday night. Victory for the Lacombe unit equalled the standing between the two teams, Red Deer having won a previous game played in the southern city. Goodacre and Holmes scored a goal apiece in the first period to give the Red Deer team a 2-0 lead, only to have the Lacombe sharpshooters come back with five goals in the second and third periods in a smart display of combination work.

Lineup of teams was as follows: Red Deer: Wells, Martin, Krause, Meeres, Holmes, Goodacre, Carrill, Armstrong, Gibson, Gertz and Scotland. Lacombe: A. Calkins, J. Calkins, J. Watt, C. Calkins, Tillotson, Faubert, G. Lund, Laughlin, Hay, Park and Waterman. Officials: J. Stuck, Lacombe, and D. Martin, Red Deer.

CLIVE: Y. Ripley was badly burned on his hands and arms when his house caught fire. Fortunately the blaze was put out before much damage was done to the building. L. Scarab, a former old man of Clive, died in Red Deer of a heart attack.

Two Real Estate Deals Approved By City Council

on the south side of Jasper avenue between 103 and 104 streets. It was intimated that acquisition of this property would give Mr. MacMillan ownership of all the property on the south side of the avenue between 103 and 104 streets with the exception of one lot. The opinion was expressed in the offer that this lot could be procured.

Nelles V. Buchanan, KC, appeared on behalf of W. Kelly Porter, proprietor, Lodge Music House, asking that council include his client as a participant in the purchase as one of the tenants.

ASKS INCLUSION

Mr. Buchanan intimated that there had been a misunderstanding between the other tenants and his client through which the five tenant-purchasers concluded that Mr. Porter was not interested in participating in the purchase. He asked that council direct that Mr. Porter, as a tenant, be included as a purchaser with the others in the deal.

L. V. Cairns, KC, appearing for the five tenant-purchasers, submitted that the tenant-purchasers had accepted the price quoted by the commissioners for the property. They had acted in good faith in their dealings with the commissioners, and were prepared to give Mr. Porter protection through a three-year lease on his present premises.

He submitted that it would be unfair to drop one of the tenant-purchasers and substitute Mr. Porter at this stage of the transaction. It had been previously submitted by Mr. Buchanan that Charles Hillas sub-let from

Mr. Porter, and therefore could not be classed as a tenant of the city.

Mr. Cairns submitted also that in making the sale to the tenants the city was disposing of the property to a group that wished to own their own business premises, and who had plans for the development of the property when manpower and materials were readily available.

SOME "IFS AND ANDS"

Commenting on the MacMillan purchase offer, Mr. Cairns said there were a number of "ifs and ands" tied in with the proposed development in connection with this offer. He said he was not acting for speculators, but for men who desired to purchase the property to secure business premises on which they had spent considerable in improvements during the period of rental. He said that to lose these premises would entail substantial loss of money invested in these improvements and in business.

Ald. James H. Ogilvie moved that the sales proposal recommended by the commissioners be referred back for consideration along with the MacMillan offer, and the representations made by Mr. Buchanan on behalf of Mr. Porter. Only the proposer of the motion supported it when voted on.

Following an understanding from the tenant-purchasers that a clause would be inserted in the sale agreement protecting Mr. Porter's lease on his premises for a period of three years the motion to sell the Chisholm block was passed with Ald. Ogilvie voting against the motion.

LOAN IS APPROVED

Council adopted the recommendation of the city commissioners empowering the mayor and the city treasurer to borrow on behalf of the city $350,000 from the Imperial Bank for a period not in excess of one month. The loan is required in connection with the refunding operation being carried through on Feb. 1 next.

Petitions from residents in the Westwood and Calder areas for extensions of bus services were referred to the transportation committee with instructions that interested parties be invited to make representations when the petitions were discussed by the committee. J. G. Brophy presented the petition from the CNR employees at Calder, and L. D. Sullivan that from the residents of Westwood.

A motion by Ald. Parsons that the commissioners contact the Union of Alberta Municipalities and the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities with a view to making an arrangement of concessions to discharged personnel of the armed forces which would be somewhat uniform, having regard to the different situations of such municipalities was agreed to.

Ald. Parsons also gave notice of motion that he would at the next council meeting move that daylight saving time in Edmonton be abolished, and that a petition be forwarded to the proper authorities in this connection.

Church Meeting Held at Onoway

ONOWAY: The parishioners' annual meeting of St. John's church, Onoway was held on Wednesday, with the Rev. F. A. Peake, L. Th. MRS. L. Vicar, in the chair. The vicar, in his second annual report, outlined the progress made during the past year and emphasized the importance of youth work. "But," he added, "all that the church can do in the care and nurture of the children is without value unless it has the whole-hearted interest and co-operation of the parents. The contemporary cult of 'not forcing' a child in matters religious is leading rapidly to nation-wide paganism."

Mr. Peake also mentioned the "Five Year Plan" for the extension and improvement of the church buildings and voiced the hope of the vestry that the vicarage would be rebuilt this summer. The Building Fund now stands at a little over $400 with a promise of a further $100 from the Dominion W.A.

The financial statement, presented by Henry Galliford, showed a balance of $62 and a turnover during the year, of a little over $2,000.

Reports were also presented by the church organizations and an announcement made of Miss M. L. Dixon's appointment to assist in parish work until such time as she is able to enter a Church Training College.

J. W. Turnbull was appointed vicar's warden for the ensuing year, and H. Galliford was elected people's warden. Members of the vestry are as follows: the vicar and church wardens (ex officio), C. Coates, Reg. Armstrong, C. Looker, S. Kettle, J. P. Mills, Madames Parker, Saiter, Carson, Dixon, Birkett, Misses E. M. Turnbull and M. L. Dixon.

McNaughton Under Attack By Candidates

to coast and from the United States and overseas have told how 6,300 men have deserted Canada's army. Is it any wonder that broadcasters from overseas Sunday night were asking if Canada, the senior British dominion, was getting tired of the war?

"Now not only the government's manpower policy, but McNaughton's administration of the defence department was a stake," said Mr. Case.

MANPOWER POLICY IS SAID FAILURE

OWEN SOUND, Ont., Jan. 23.—(CP)—The defence department statement that 6,300 men scheduled to go overseas now are absent without leave "is an admission of the complete failure of the government's manpower policy," it was charged last night by Mr. Vice-Marshal A. E. Godfrey, retired, the CCF candidate in the Grey North by-election Feb. 5.

In a prepared statement Air Vice-Marshal Godfrey declared: "Gen. McNaughton should insist on a change of policy or offer his resignation as minister of national defence."

BAD SITUATION

"We now are right back to where we were, without adequate reinforcements for our men in Europe. The government boast that 8,300 draftees now are overseas in a hollow attempt to bolster up a bad situation."

The CCF candidate's statement added: "According to the minister's own statement in the House of Commons there were in Canada only 16,000 draftees whose training as infantry was sufficiently well-advanced to make them suitable for overseas."

"In December and January 10,000 were to have been sent. But with 6,300 of the 16,000 gone over the hill even that first 10,000 are no longer available, and there will be no men at all to meet further commitments up to the end of May."

His statement said the Progressive Conservative party could not escape all responsibility for the manpower "muddle." It continued:

"Their reckless endeavors for the past several months to make political capital out of a grave national crisis have sowed disunity and confusion in the ranks of the armed forces."

ASKS WHAT PROVINCES MISSING TROOPS FROM

MEAFORD, Ont., Jan. 23.—(CP)—John Diefenbaker, Progressive Conservative member of parliament

THE REV. M. S. JOHNSON

Central Lutheran Reports Good Year

The annual business meeting of Central Lutheran Church was held recently. According to the treasurer's report not only were all the current expenses of the church met in full, but out of the funds of the church the indebtedness of the church was retired in full. The last mortgage of more than $1,800 was retired out of current receipts without any special drive to pay it off. On Sunday Dec. 10, a special festival Thanksgiving Service was held at which time the mortgage on the church was burned. The Rev. M. S. Johnson is minister of the church.

C. Holmberg was elected deacon at the business meeting; Peter Olson, trustee, Melvin Benson, secretary, and L. E. Foster, treasurer. Miss Marie Akre was elected to the board of education; auditors elected were John Hougan and Lars Anfinson; nominating committee, Mrs. W. Edsall, Mrs. L. Foster and T. Ronneseth. Leonard Foster and Lawrence Barry were elected delegates to the district convention of the church.

ment for Lake Centre, Sask., said last night in a Grey North by-election speech that Defence Minister McNaughton should reveal "How many of the missing 6,300 home defence troops" are from each of the provinces.

In a speech here in support of Garfield Case, Progressive Conservative candidate in the by-election Feb. 5, Mr. Diefenbaker said Gen. McNaughton, Liberal candidate in the by-election, should also reveal how many of the 8,300 NRMA troops, whose arrival overseas was announced Saturday, actually made the crossing as conscripts. It should be revealed if the figure included NRMA men who

Two Ranches Sold By Calgary MLA

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., Jan. 23.—(CP)—J. J. Bowlen, MLA, of Calgary, yesterday announced the sale of his ranches in Southern Alberta. The ranches, both well-known, are at Alderson and Pincher Creek.

The Alderson ranch comprises 46,000 acres with over 4,000 head of breeding ewes, some cattle and all the equipment, all of which was sold to George Murray and Sons of the MHR ranch in the Medicine Hat district. The deal was in cash but the figure is not revealed.

Sheep on the Bowlen ranch were among the best in Western Canada. In the Pincher Creek ranch spread there are nearly 2,700 acres of deeded land. Mr. Bowlen has owned it since 1922 and operated it as a mixed farm and ranch. In recent years he leased it. It was sold to Paul Henker of Granum and a nephew, Stanley Henker of Claresholm.

Fail to Determine How Aircraft Lost

OTTAWA, Jan. 23.—(CP)—A transport department board of inquiry into the loss of a Canadian Trans-Atlantic plane with Vice-Admiral Sir Alfred Evans, chief of the British admiralty mission here, and a crew of four has been unable to assign a cause for the disappearance of the aircraft on its way to Britain Dec. 29. Reconstruction Minister Howe last night announced the findings which presumed the aircraft "is lost at sea and the crew of four and one passenger are all dead."

LONDON, Jan. 23.—(CP)—The Russians rolled to within 165 miles of Berlin yesterday. This is about the airline distance between Montreal and Kingston, Ont.; between Toronto and Chatham, Ont., and slightly less than the distance between Calgary and Edmonton.

SHOULD KNOW FACTS

The country should be told, Mr. Diefenbaker said, whether the 8,300 would be counted as part of the 16,000 home defence troops whose dispatch overseas was authorized by order-in-council last November.

Mr. Diefenbaker declared the average penalty for failure to answer a call-up notice was a $100 fine in Toronto; $75 in London, Ont.; a jail sentence in Port Arthur; a $25 fine in Montreal district and $21 fine in Quebec district. It was to the advantage of a man not to report, because the fine for failure was far less than the man could earn during the period he was delinquent.

Urges Canada To Press For Future Peace

Overflowing the National Hall, 5620 109 avenue, more than 1,000 Edmonton and district Ukrainians heard last Sunday one of their leaders, the Rev. Dr. Basil Kushnir, of Winnipeg, chancellor of the Ukrainian Catholic Church in Canada and national president of the Ukrainian Canadian Committee, formed at the outbreak of this war to increase and consolidate Canada's war effort among half a million Ukrainian Canadians.

The occasion was the 26th anniversary of the union of all Ukrainian territories in Europe into one independent sovereign state and under Ukrainian government, which took place at the capital of Ukraine, Kiev, on Jan. 22, 1919.

Stating that within the last 30 years Canada was concerned twice in wars of European origin, Dr. Kushnir urged Canada to use its influence in European affairs and help remove the source of trouble.

PEACE IN EUROPE

"Peace in Europe can be established only on natural justice, freedom and equal rights of all peoples and safety of all individuals," declared the speaker who was introduced by the chairman, P. J. Lazarowich of this city, president of the provincial executive of the Ukrainian Canadian Committee.

Entertainment was provided by three Ukrainian choruses, the National Hall, under Joseph Pryma; M.H. Institute under P. Pash, and National Federation, under O. Tsukornyk. Musical program included a violin solo by Miss Zonia Lazarowich and Mrs. Mary Babuk, soprano, Miss Mary Drummond accompanied Miss Lazarowich and Miss Emily Chobotar accompanied Mrs. Babuk and the choruses.

Several resolutions were passed dealing with the views of the organization on questions affecting the Ukraine.

One motion called for unity of Ukrainian territories; sovereignty of their existence and development equally in the family of free nations and preservation of the safety of the individual in every sovereign state.

A vote of thanks to Dr. Kushnir was moved by John Esau.

Recruiting Tour Proves Success

Pleasingly successful recruiting tour in the Athabasca-Clyde area was reported by Sgt. Vera Shirley of the CWAC on her return to Edmonton Monday after a week in the north.

Sgt. Shirley said a large number of young women of splendidly expressed a desire to join up after she had addressed high school pupils and a public meeting in the town theatre.

Until 1800, farming methods remained much as they had been in the days of Julius Caesar.

Tribute Paid Former Mayor By City Council

Members of the city council Monday night stood in silent tribute to the memory of Maj.-Gen. Hon. W. A. Griesbach, CB, CMG, DSO, VD, former mayor and alderman of the City of Edmonton, who died suddenly on Sunday afternoon.

Ald. J. M. Douglas, veteran member of city council, moving that a letter of condolence be sent to Mrs. Griesbach said that the city had suffered a great personal loss in General Griesbach's death.

"I knew him well, both privately and in his capacity as a member of parliament and as a civic official. He took a great interest in public affairs, and this city owes him a debt of gratitude," he said here.

General Griesbach lived here practically all his life and was always alert to the interest of the city.

RENDERED GREAT SERVICE

Ald. Sidney Parsons, an original member of the 49th Battalion, Edmonton Regiment, recruited here by General Griesbach, said that he knew him since the early part of 1915 and that both from a military standpoint and as a citizen he rendered great service to Edmonton and Canada.

He said that insofar as it was humanly possible he exercised all the care that a father could lavish on his men of the battalion. He was fearless in action, and never called on him to perform duties which he himself was not prepared to accompany them on. As a brigadier he was beloved by all who served under him, and as a soldier there never was his equal in taking care of the men under his command.

THE QUESTION

According to an American health officer, women, not men, are more able to handle a shovel in a snowbank. That is provided the man has an office job and the chateleine is accustomed to scrubbing floors and clothes. Now, there's plenty of snow around this city, particularly on the sidewalks—so, who do you think should be "it"?

THE ANSWERS

HARRY HARVEY, clerk: I don't think it takes brains to answer that one, but it might take courage. I'll settle by saying the city should keep the snow down. At any rate, it makes little difference in the winter months, but when spring comes and ice covers the sidewalks, I think something should be done about it.

MRS. J. HURD, housewife: So somebody wants to add insult to injury. Just because a housewife can shovel coal into a furnace, or do a big laundry, cook meals for several children, look after their clothes and do a host of other things is no reason that she should wield a shovel in a snowbank. For my part, the snow can pile up till doomsday, I'll not touch it.

REG. BELL, traveller: There are many times that I have had to dig myself out of snow-drifts and I don't begrudge anybody who has to do it for a living. I maintain that if a person needs a bit of exercise and wants to shovel snow or spade a garden, that's his business. When it comes to some "authority" saying it's a woman's place to shovel a path through a snowbank, I don't agree with it.

May Stop Work

Stoppage of work on Jan. 29 has been threatened by about 300 miners at the Luscar and Kay Dee mines unless a physician is provided for their families, according to G. P. Nance, an official of the Luscar coal company. About 25 men are employed at the Kay Dee mine and the remainder at Luscar.

Loud speakers will be installed outside The Barn ballroom on Tuesday night when the draw for the IODE bungalow and other prizes will take place according to Mrs. R. E. Jones, chairman of the committee in charge. The loud speakers will enable those who cannot find space in the hall to hear the proceedings inside. The draw takes place at 11 p.m.

No Definite Action by AFU For Affiliation With Labor

Cost of affiliation of the Alberta Farmers' Union with a recognized Canadian labor organization at present is "prohibitive," according to a board of directors' report submitted Tuesday at opening sessions of the Alberta Farmers' Union convention, now being held in the Masonic Temple.

According to the report, directors in the last year have approached labor organizations with a view to affiliation. Such action was called for in a resolution approved at the 1944 AFU convention.

"One of the chief difficulties (of affiliation) is that the labor group is badly divided," the report states. "Our problem there would be to determine which section to join."

Cost of affiliation between the AFU and a labor group would range upwards from 18 cents a member per annum, convention delegates were informed.

NO DEFINITE ACTION

Directors reported no definite action has been taken on the affiliation move, and the matter will be brought before the present convention. One suggestion that "seems to hold possibilities" is that the AFU enters into a "working arrangement" with the Canadian Congress of Labor, without actual affiliation. This plan was proposed by a CCL representative.

Urging increased intensity of membership campaigns, directors state that if every AFU member brought in one additional member, the objective of 50 per cent of all Alberta farmers would almost be attained.

"If two were brought, we would have the majority necessary for the influence we seek. We have long awaited the election of a government which would protect the interests of the farm group. We have now learned that there is but one way to organize and protect ourselves."

"During the last year, amicable relations have been maintained with the United Farmers of Alberta," the directors' report continued. "We have set up a contact committee which has met with them, and consultations on various Continued on Page Thirteen

Military Orders

Order by Lt. Col. R. Walter Hale MC, ED, officer commanding the 2nd (Reserve) battalion, The Loyal Edmonton Regiment.

Lovebird Loose: Owner Anxious For Its Return

There's a talking lovebird on the loose in the city.

A pet of W. J. Bowline 10576 116 street, it couldn't withstand the balmy spring-like air of Alberta's great outdoors on Monday morning and zoomed up from an open house window at the Bowling home. The door of the bird's cage had been left open for cleaning.

Because these birds cannot stand the cold if a sudden turn in the weather occurred, Mr. Bowline is quite anxious to find it at once.

He thinks it probably is at the home of some other Edmonton resident.

The breast, wings and tail are a light blue. On top of the wings and back the coloring is grey, black and white. The top of the head is white with a black and white collar ringing the neck. The bird is a male and named Billy.

May Establish New Committee

Consideration will be given by the finance committee of the city council to the advisability of establishing a joint industries committee.

This decision followed the rejection by the aldermen of the proposal that the finance committee constitute the industries committee of council.

Practically all aldermen expressed the opinion that an industries committee should be of broader scope than a council committee, and they were of the opinion that the city should be prepared to finance an industries committee that would make energetic efforts to attract industries to the city.

The finance committee members were instructed to consider these suggestions and report.

Charge 3 Youths Smoking on Trams

Three Edmonton youths will appear in juvenile court on charges of smoking in street cars, city police stated Tuesday. The boys concerned were 15 and 16 years old and were checked by city officers Monday afternoon on Calder and blue-line cars. Juveniles, generally, have been the offenders against the no smoking rules on trams.

THE REV. E. S. OTLEY

Successful Year At Christ Church

The annual meeting of the congregation of Christ Church was held in the Parish Hall on Monday at 8 p.m. The rector, the Rev. E. S. Otley, presented a general report of the year's work, stressing the continued need of devotion to the cause of the Church, and of workers to carry out the Church's program.

The financial statement, presented by C. H. Chapman, on behalf of the wardens, showed a balance of $148.06 in the general account, after making deductions for all outstanding liabilities. Total receipts for the year amounted to nearly $13,000, and the amount paid over by the Church and the various branches of the W.A. for missionary and other extra-parochial purposes reached the total of $2,500.

Announcement was made of the inauguration of a campaign to raise $15,000 within the next five years, to cover repairs which have already been made to the foundation of the Church and the building of a new rectory.

Of this amount some $3,400 has already been subscribed in cash, with the expectation that the full amount will be raised within the allotted time. All the reports of the organizations of the Church gave evidence of progress, financially and otherwise.

For the forthcoming year the rector re-appointed C. H. Chapman as rector's warden, and S. Bruce Smith KC, was elected people's warden, to succeed C. G. O'Connor, KC. At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by members of the Women's Auxiliary.

Minister Opens AFU Convention

Hon. D. Bruce MacMillan, minister of agriculture, Tuesday morning opened the third annual convention sessions of the Alberta Farmers' Union, which is being held in the Masonic Temple.

Approximately 400 AFU members are expected to attend the convention, which will continue for three days. Registration of delegates and routine business occupied Tuesday morning sessions.

Mayor John N. Fry delivered an address of welcome to the morning session, following which regular convention committees were struck. Balance of the morning session was devoted to reports by the AFU board of directors, the Union's general secretary and financial statements.

James Jackson, Irma, AFU president, was scheduled to deliver his annual address to the convention at 2 p.m. Tuesday. The address was to be broadcast.

Reports Are Said Little "Premature"

Reports to the effect that RCMP were stopping citizens on street cars and on city streets, asking to see their registration cards as part of the search being made for Zumbies, were said Tuesday morning by police to be "a little premature."

Disease Reveals Decline in City

A decrease of 29 in the number of communicable disease cases reported to the city health department for the week ended Jan. 22 was recorded compared with the week previous, according to report filed with the city commissioners by Dr. G. M. Little, medical officer of health.

The following is a tabulation of the cases reported:

Premier's Trip To East Canada Gathered Data

Speculation on progress of re-funding Alberta's public debt increased here Monday with announcement by Premier Ernest Manning that his recent trip to the east was to "gather information on the provincial debt situation."

No statement will be released by the premier until he has conferred with other members of the cabinet. Arriving in Edmonton Monday noon from the east, he left for Calgary on the Monday afternoon train, and will return here Wednesday.

Mr. Manning visited Ottawa, Quebec and Toronto in the course of his two-week trip and in the east was assisted by J. F. Percival, deputy provincial treasurer.

DEPUTY STAYS

Mr. Percival will not return for another day or two, the premier said Monday. He remained in the east to obtain further information which will be laid before the cabinet by the premier.

As far as could be learned here Tuesday morning, no meeting of the cabinet has been called for Wednesday. The executive body will meet Thursday, regular council session day.

Officials Probe Street Accident

Officials of the street railway department are investigating an accident in which a Calder line special crashed into the rear of the blue and white line at 134 street and 109A avenue Monday afternoon. The accident occurred at 3:02 p.m.

One woman, Mrs. G. Rogier, Camp 550, is in hospital suffering from bruises. Her injuries are not serious. Several other passengers in the car received slight injuries and suffered from shock.

One of the cars involved in the accident has been taken out of service to repair mechanical equipment damaged in the collision. The blue and white line car was not damaged. The driver of the Calder car was A. Peterson.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Nagging Wife Repents
When It Is Too Late

Woman Admits That Her Actions Drove Her Husband From Home; She Wants to Change Her Ways, But Too Late

I recently have had the pleasure of beholding a freak of nature who would exhibit A in any museum of natural history that people would go miles to see. It is a wife who admits that she drove her husband from her by her nagging. She says she married a man who had every desirable domestic quality. He was kind and tender, affectionate and considerate, an interesting companion and a good provider.

In their early marriage, he was devoted itself, but after a bit he became one of the silent husbands who never speaks in his own house if he can help it, and then he began wandering away from his own fireside. And, finally, her kind women friends felt it their sacred duty to tell her about the Other Woman.

Now under such circumstances, the average wife weeps on the breast of all who will listen to her tale of woe and tells what a good wife she has been and how she always sewed on her husband's buttons and darned his socks, and how the ungrateful brute has betrayed her.

USED INTROSPECTION

But this abnormal woman didn't go back to Mother or buy a ticket to Reno. She sat down and had a heart-to-heart session with herself and tried to find out what she had done to her husband, instead of concentrating on what he had done to her. And she came out of it chastened and wiser woman.

She realized that from the very first day of her marriage she had bossed the life out of him; that she had criticized everything that he did and didn't do; that she kept him perpetually reminded of all of his faults and weaknesses until flesh and blood could bear it no longer and he fled from his house as from a jail, and from a woman who made him feel like a sick mouse to ladies who flattered him and built up his ego.

And, being a wise woman, this wife revised her tactics. She threw away her hammer and got out the saw-saw. And her husband, glad to be back home, for after a man has been married, he is a housebroken animal and prefers his own fireside if his wife will stroke him for the right way.

And what is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander. Many a divorce would be saved if, before a man broke up his unhappy marriage and deprived his little children of a father's love and guidance, he faced his own conscience and asked himself how far he was accessory before the crime of wrecking his home.

Maybe his wife is a nagger because he hasn't the wit to tell her that she looks just like Mona Lisa when she smiles. Maybe she is a poor housekeeper because she asks herself what the use in frying herself to a crisp over kitchen stove for a man who never compliments her cooking. Maybe she is extravagant because she is trying to cover up a hurt heart with a mink coat. All that many a poor wife needs to turn her into a good one are just a few signs of love and appreciation from her husband.

In one of George Cable's fine stories, a little priest always says: "God forgive you and me for that man's sin," when he hears of someone committing a crime. Husbands and wives may well say that to each other before an unhappy marriage.

THESE WOMEN—"So, THIS is how you spend all your time!"

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDERD

This is the time of year when it is well to be self-conscious about the way in which the children are dressed. It's splendid to have them looking as smart as children in an advertisement, it is even more splendid to have them attired in clothes that are so toasty warm as to keep them protected from the chill blasts of winter winds.

Because of the child's small body surface, warmth is lost easily and loss of heat which leads to icy fingers, ears, legs and feet predisposes to colds.

So the first requisite of winter clothing is that they shall be warm. Mere weight is not a guarantee that. When choosing the child's winter garments take the trouble to read the tickets that are affixed to them and note the percentage of wool which they contain. It may be new or reclaimed wool or a combination of either. But it should be wool to be warm.

Most of the misery children will suffer from the cold is done in the interests of what children consider to be proper—because someone else does it. The cold-blooded, skinny child who goes to school with her ears freezing because some warm-blooded fairy can do it, is injuring only herself.

Remember the days when you, or your grandmother, graduated from kiddyhood and thereafter wore a hat, though you froze. Well, our modern children suffer their martyrdom to fashion and to their associates when they refuse to wear rubbers or raincoats or overshoes, or when they bare their red, rough knees to the freezing winds, just because it's being done.

Any fashion which keeps a child warm when it is cold, is a good fashion and should be lauded and appreciated. One of those happens at the moment to be the scarves which tie over the head. They aren't kiddyhoods, but they serve the same purpose.

Parents may—and do—go to the opposite extreme and not only dress their children as if for the arctic but then parade them for hours in hot stores without removing so much as a mitten. That's just as menacing to the child's health, for roasting, as he is in the hot store, his body chills the more viciously once he is exposed to the elements again.

This dressing is more than a form. It takes imagination and a determination to put oneself in the child's place and try to dress him in a way that won't leave him either shivering or perspiration-hot.

Personal Health Service

SOME PRACTICAL USES FOR LIME

When using lime to disinfect it is necessary to use it liberally. Ordinary lime, unslacked lime, livelime, quicklime is cheap enough so that there is no reason for sparing use on the ground of expense.

For disinfecting excreta an amount of freshly prepared milk of lime about equal to the bulk of matter to be disinfected should be mixed with the matter containing typhoid bacilli, the material thus treated should be allowed to stand two hours.

Milk of lime is made by putting 1 part of quicklime to 4 parts of water—about two pounds in the gallon. It should have the consistency of thick cream. Use an amount of this about equal to the amount of matter to be disinfected and let the mixture stand at least two hours before final disposal.

This is the most practical agent for disinfecting privies, latrines, or trenches in camp. Only enough milk of lime should be prepared to last for three or four days at most, for on standing it changes into inert carbonate of lime, which has no disinfectant value; neither has air-slaked lime any value as a disinfectant.

We are talking about ordinary lime, such as is used for whitewashing. It is not to be confused with the very pungent "chloride of lime," chlorinated lime, hypochlorite of lime, calcium hypochlorite, that comes in sealed tins and gives off the characteristic odor of chlorine. Frequent application of white-wash—a mixture of a few pounds of quicklime with a bucket of water—to the walls of cellars, barns, animal pens and the like keeps such places clean, disinfected, prevents dampness and mould.

Dry lime is of little value for these purposes. Prepared chalk is the purified calcium carbonate used as an antacid in various kinds of hyperacidity or sour stomach and often as a mild astringent for relief of acute diarrhoea.

From ours. Most of our experts respond with aces over a two bid.

The hand involves one of the nearest safety plays I have seen. You can see that your only problem is to lose only one heart trick. Of course, I'll admit that you don't expect the second heart lead to be ruffed but you must protect against it by leading a small heart after cashing the ace. Now, when East returns a heart, you simply play a low heart and ever though West does ruff it, you can over ruff it in the dummy with the king, thus making the contract.

Legion Official To Visit Calgary

Percy Gwynne, newly-elected second vice-president of Edmonton Canadian Legion Branch No. 24, will visit Calgary this week for conferences with Mayor Andrew Davidson and other Calgary civic officials for the purpose of obtaining information on Calgary's scheme of lots and homes for war veterans.

Mr. Gwynne left Monday night and will be in Calgary several days. He will report back to the Edmonton branch of the Legion concerning the Calgary scheme.

Points for Parents

By EDYTH THOMAS WALLACE

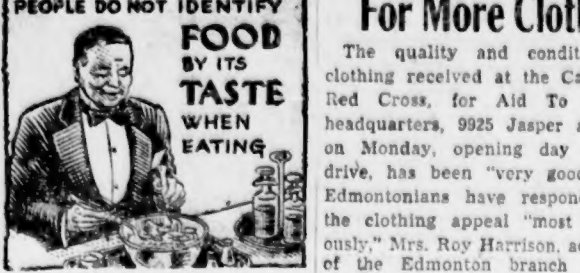

Mother: "Baby's comfortable and he's not sick or hungry. He's crying, I believe, because he wants attention. He must learn we cannot play with him at night."

Eliminate physical causes for baby's crying—then parents, not baby, should decide when and how his psychological wants should be satisfied.

PEOPLE DO NOT IDENTIFY FOOD BY ITS TASTE WHEN EATING

The popular idea that a person knows one food from another by the sense of taste is quite erroneous. There are very few foods that we can identify by taste because nothing is registered by the sense of taste except four things: Sweetness, sourness, saltiness and bitterness. All other qualities of our food are known through our sense of smell. A bad cold does not impair your taste, it only shuts off your smell. The flavors of foods (which we smell and do not taste) serve to stimulate the secretion of the digestive fluids, and are thus valuable for health.

Prepared chalk is the purified calcium carbonate used as an antacid in various kinds of hyperacidity or sour stomach and often as a mild astringent for relief of acute diarrhoea.

McKenney On Bridge

Just received another batch of interesting hands from my friend, Dr. Paul Stern, of England. This hand was played by Stanley Merkin of the Lederers' Club. Their bidding is a little different

From ours. Most of our experts respond with aces over a two bid.

The hand involves one of the nearest safety plays I have seen. You can see that your only problem is to lose only one heart trick. Of course, I'll admit that you don't expect the second heart lead to be ruffed but you must protect against it by leading a small heart after cashing the ace. Now, when East returns a heart, you simply play a low heart and ever though West does ruff it, you can over ruff it in the dummy with the king, thus making the contract.

Legion Official To Visit Calgary

Percy Gwynne, newly-elected second vice-president of Edmonton Canadian Legion Branch No. 24, will visit Calgary this week for conferences with Mayor Andrew Davidson and other Calgary civic officials for the purpose of obtaining information on Calgary's scheme of lots and homes for war veterans.

Mr. Gwynne left Monday night and will be in Calgary several days. He will report back to the Edmonton branch of the Legion concerning the Calgary scheme.

Official Sees General Vote

By Next June

There will be a Dominion election not later than June this year, and probably earlier than that, in the opinion of R. A. Bell, Ottawa, national director, Progressive Conservative Association, who arrived here in the course of an organization tour of Western Canada. He bases his prediction of a general election on recent statements made by Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King.

Mr. Bell said that an immediate and concerted organization drive would be made throughout the Dominion, and candidates would be placed in most of the 245 ridings. To date 108 candidates have been nominated, he said, and nominating conventions are pending in a great many of the ridings. Eleven candidates are now nominated in Alberta, he added.

MAYBE EARLIER

He said that on the strength of statements made by Prime Minister Mackenzie King a general election will not be delayed beyond June, and there is a possibility of its being held earlier.

He said there was likelihood of a resurgence of the manpower crisis which would result in Mr. King calling an earlier election to "draw a red herring across the trail of the failure of the piecemeal and partial conscription methods adopted by the government."

Mr. Bell also predicted that the present indications were that "not a single cabinet minister east of the Ottawa river would be re-elected to Parliament."

He said also that CCF and Labor Progressive organizations were fighting each other tooth and nail in the eastern industrial ridings, and that judging from despatches in the CCF ranks to the Labor Progressive movement the strength of the CCF was waning.

Mr. Bell will consult with executive officers of the party here, and will leave Tuesday for British Columbia. He intimated that a meeting of all nominated candidates in Alberta would be held at Calgary on Monday, Jan. 29.

French Girl Leaves Underground Serves as Army Doctor at Front

The part French women have played in the liberation of their country is vividly described in the following letter which a member of the French Information Service in Ottawa has just received from a friend in France.

With her native Paris liberated, the writer, Madeleine X, immediately enlisted as a doctor in General Delattre de Tassigny's army and was planning to leave for Alsace, in the hope that she would be able to get to Ravensbrück and help some of her friends detained in the notorious German prison for women. Her story is the more surprising in the light of the information that she is herself in delicate health and that she weighs not quite 100 pounds.

Here is her letter:

My Dear Blanche,

I was overjoyed to get your letter, and at last I can answer it without fear of German censorship, or the Gestapo. First let me say how happy I was to find that we have both been working on the same general principles: hatred of the Boches and search for Petain and his creatures.

I worked in the underground movement for three years, for a year and a half as doctor for English and American parachutists of whom there were a great many hiding in Paris, and then, since I had become too well-known to the Gestapo and three had been too long compromising arrests, I joined the Maquis. There I had 50 people to feed that is to supply with food tickets, each month. Thanks to numerous accomplices in the town halls, I managed.

Finally came the last week of the occupation: we fought, decked the city with flags, brought out the new papers, and sang the Marseillaise; all under the very noses of the Boches. We took thirty prisoners that last day and in the sweep with machine-gun fire, or swept in hand, we treated the wounded, and exchanged Boche prisoners for our own men in the FFI.

This all sounds very disjointed in my description I'm afraid—and that's the way it was in reality. But the whole thing was extraordinary, the way everyone united completely against the occupant was wonderful. These days, these hours, will always live vividly in my memory. The American army, the LeClerc division at its head, arrived amid our cheers. General Le Gaulle walked along the Champs Elysees—and the emotion of it all made us forget that we hadn't very much to eat and that for three months we hadn't had gas, or electricity, or metro, or radios, my friends, and I did our cooking over a little wood fire in my garden. You will find Paris little damaged by the shooting; it is still as beautiful as ever.

NEWS

You have asked me for news of everyone. Madeleine now has three sons, counting Jacques. As for Mme. C., she was arrested by the Gestapo on October 1, 1943, spent some time at Fresnes prison, and in April 1944, was deported to Germany. She is at Ravensbrück with four of my friends who worked with me and were not lucky enough to escape the Gestapo. According to the reports of the rare people who manage to get back and who have described the miserable life they have to endure, their fate is a terrible one—almost no food, no heat, no warm clothing—three to four in one small bed—above all, let us not be soft with the Boches prisoners. They have committed too many atrocities, too many murders, in France, for anyone to feel sorry for them. They are a race to be destroyed. But enough about me. I have had news of you through X, who gave me a lot of details about your life and your work over there.

I have now enlisted as a doctor and leave next week for Alsace and the army of General Delattre de Tassigny. I hope to be able to go to Ravensbrück and help my poor friends. My sister now has a son eight months old—a sweet and bonny baby. My grandmother is very old now and is losing her faculties a little. All the events have passed over her without troubling her, happily, for she no longer understands anything, but it is very sad. Nicole T. has two children and is expecting a third. Her father was shot by the Boches.

My dear Blanche, I've only room enough left to embrace you most affectionately—as I do with all my heart.

—Madeleine

Burns' Concert Great Success

One of the outstanding events to mark the anniversary of the birth of Robert Burns took place in the St. James parish hall Saturday evening, with a "Grand Burns' Concert and Dance" attended by more than 300 guests. The affair was sponsored by the Orkney, Shetland and Caithness society.

Guests were welcomed by Oliver Sinclair, president of the society. T. H. Campbell, chairman of the Edinburgh Highland Games Association was chairman.

A highlight of the evening was the speech by Robert Burns, on the Immortal Memory of Robert Burns. Artists appearing on the concert program, arranged by Arthur B. Miller, were The Edmonton Boys' Pipe Band under leadership of Pipe Major John Robertson DCM; Miss Shirley Neher, soprano; Miss Kathleen Clarke, contralto; William Smith, tenor, and Hamish Gillespie, baritone. Vocal solos with piano accompaniment were given by Miss Violet Camillo.

Dancers were Mrs. Mary McPherson, Miss Minnie Foster, Miss Doris Holland and Miss Edith Johnston. Accompanists were Ralph Couper, and Piper Robert McPherson. William Ness acted as comedian. Dancing followed with William Reid as master-of-ceremonies.

Those assisting in arrangements were William Miller, Archie Bichan, Alexander Thomson, Jack Burger, William Hatusu and Harry Kirkwood.

Staff Dinner Held by Paper Company

Employees of the Mid-West Paper Sales Limited and their friends were guests of the management at the annual staff dinner party in the banquet room of the Corona hotel, Friday evening.

OTTAWA, Jan. 23.—(CP)—Edgar (F.X.) Gorman, 56, regarded as one of the best-known Canadian Pacific telegraph operators in the Dominion, died last night in hospital after a long illness. He was a native of nearby Buckingham, Que.

Say Accused Man In City Hospital

Kenneth Walker, called by the court orderly in city police court, Tuesday morning, to answer to a charge of assault, will be informed his case will come up in one week's time.

Walker, Magistrate L. R. Jackson was told, was charged with striking Maurice Clairmont and knocking out one of his teeth. The accused, however, suffered blood poisoning in the hand and was now being treated in hospital.

What Council Did

Agreed to call a special meeting of the city council, possibly this week, to consider the housing situation in Edmonton. Mayor Fry said that many organizations had made application to make representation to city council relative to housing in the city. The motion to call a special meeting came while a communication from the Canadian Legion asking for this meeting was being dealt with.

Concurred in the motion by Ald. M. M. Downey to set up special transportation and housing committees of council, and agreed that the personnel of the finance committee comprise the housing committee, the bylaws committee and the transportation committee.

Referred to the bylaws committee a communication from the Edmonton Real Estate Association urging delay in action in connection with acquiring the property for the Macdonald hotel beautification project.

Referred to the bylaws committee for consideration and report 11 proposed amendments to the city charter.

Concurred in the city commissioners' recommendation that the lease option held by the Edmonton Club of the club property be extended to March 31, 1953. An annual rental of $2,400 is being paid the city for the premises.

BEFORE THE MAGISTRATE

Adam Yandja wanted to enter a dance hall Saturday night. He did enter—and was ejected—four times. It was then a special constable got busy and Yandja was taken to the lock-up.

Pleading guilty to causing a disturbance, when he appeared before Magistrate L. R. Jackson Monday morning, he was assessed $10 or 15 days.

John Moore, with two charges against him was allowed an adjournment until Tuesday. It was his fourth adjournment on one charge of assaulting a police officer and a second count of common assault.

Seven Divorces

Seven decrees nisi of divorce were granted in supreme court Tuesday by Mr. Justice W. A. Macdonald. Those receiving the decrees were Dale C. Sherburne from Marie L. Sherburne; Doris M. Borris from John H. Borris; Betty M. Whitaker from Richard V. Whitaker; Lillie L. Barrett from Alfred C. Barrett; Eve R. Berry from Kenneth D. Berry; Gertrude G. Cadden from John A. Cadden, and Ellen M. Rushton from Randall E. Rushton.

Legal Notices

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE DISTRICT OF NORTHWEST ALBERTA. Judicial District of Edmonton

IN THE MATTER OF THE ESTATE OF ORESTA JOSE BLAKEY, late of the City of Edmonton, in the Province of Alberta, Retired School Teacher, Deceased.

Notice to Creditors

Notice is hereby given that all persons having claims against the estate of the above named Oresta Jose Blakey, who died on the 1st day of November, A.D. 1944, are required to file with the Public Administrator by the 7th day of March, 1945, a full statement, duly verified, of their claims and of any securities held by them, and that after that date the administrator will distribute the assets of the deceased among the parties entitled thereto having regard only to the claims of which notice has been so filed or which have been brought to his knowledge.

No AFU Action For Link With Organized Labor

matters have been held. It is our opinion that joint action of the union and the United Farmers of Alberta is of immense importance to the future of agriculture in our province.

URGE ORGANIZATION

The directors concluded the report with an appeal to farmers to organize for the protection of their interests.

At present, due to war conditions alone, we have a temporary measure of prosperity which is very different from the depressed prices of the 30's, yet far from the prices received by those engaged in other industries. The wartime production of our farmers has been unrivalled in all the history of Canadian agriculture. Every demand has been met and surpassed regardless of prices received.

This record has been achieved despite the fact that from nearly every farm one, or more sons, have gone forth to engage in the battle for democracy. Thousands of these farm boys have made the supreme sacrifice. To their bereaved loved ones we extend our deepest sympathy. That their sacrifice may not have been in vain, we pledge our

By Foot Tons and Miles the Figures Show That Everyone's a Walking, Talking Powerhouse

Words, words, words . . . 4,800 of them a day is what the average person reels off. Una Gardiner said she knew only too well people talk a lot, but 4,800 a day—Una had heard enough, she said.

The little girl raising the big weight is pointing out that the body uses 450 foot-tons a day, equivalent to raising 75 tons six feet in the air.

Even without Sinatra the heart ticks off an average of 103,680 beats every 24 hours. Una tried to count her own but gave up after a few hundred and agreed.

Mosquito Packs Six-Pound Sting

Something new has been added to the already versatile Mosquito aircraft built in Canada, Britain and Australia. "Anopheles De Havillandus," as it is affectionately called, has been put to almost every use: speedy bomber, fighter, reconnaissance scout, night fighter, etc. Now the Mark VIII model packs a new wallop in a six-pound cannon which spells death to U-boats and enemy shipping. An airman stands by the snout of the six-pounder holding one of the shells.

Orange Blossom Time For Them

Wedding bells sounded recently in Washington, D.C., Municipal Court for the couple above—Joseph "Jo-Jo" Stinson, 60, and Violet Biddle, 78, of Philadelphia. The bride is related to U.S. Attorney-General Francis Biddle and Col. Anthony Drexel Biddle, Jr., of U.S. diplomatic service.

Around the world 3,500 times, for a total of 87,750,000 miles—that's the total the experts figure your blood stream travels each 24 hours. The girls worked on that one for a few minutes and agreed it added up to a lot of heart work.

Tough Going on Western Front

What Allied fighters are up against as winter grips the Western Front is graphically shown in photo above, where airmen are seen struggling to haul a 1,000-pound bomb through the mud at a forest ammunition depot. "Ammo" dump supplies Allied aircraft now pounding Gen. von Rundstedt's supply lines and rear bases.

There's Still a War on Burma's "Forgotten Front"

While the Western Front drama snarls the big headlines, the war still goes on in Burma, where Allied forces, including Chinese troops, are gradually forcing the Japs out of the country. Photos above, taken near recently recaptured Bhamo, show, top: a unique jeep tandem, serving as a "locomotive" to haul freight cars filled with supplies; left, below: knowing that

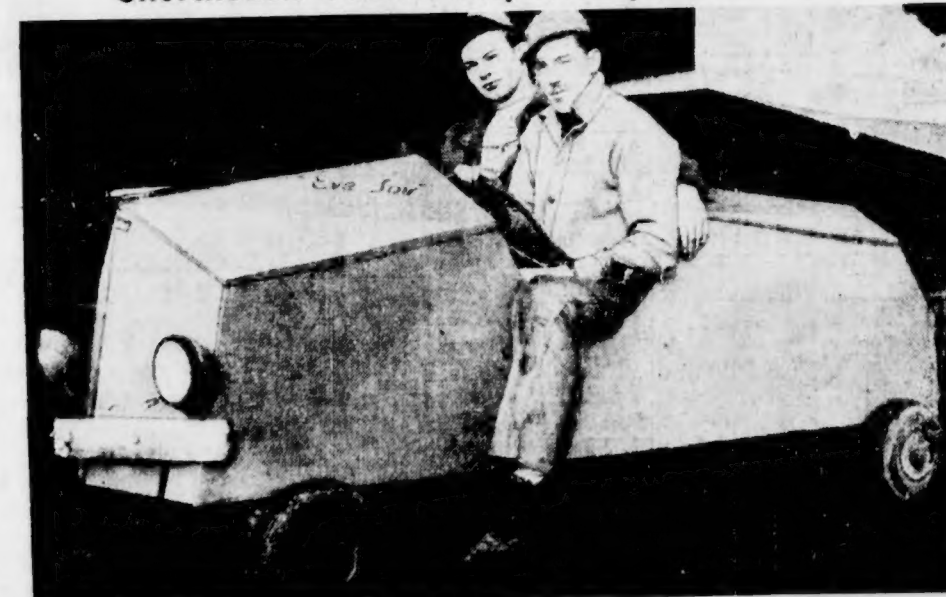

Japs often feign death only to heave a grenade when they get the chance, a combat cameraman rolls over the body of a Nip killed on the banks of the Irrawaddy river; below, right: Frank Cancellare, NEA-Acme Newspictures' war correspondent, who took the photos, sits atop a tank manned by a Chinese and an American. Cancellare's camera has covered the China-Burma-India theatre for 22 months.

Lensmen Like 'Em

Unorthodox Vehicle Requires Special License

This vehicle is an automobile built by LAC Art McClung, Hoffer, Sask., was made from a one-cylinder bicycle engine, a steel frame and four airplane tail wheels. He uses it in Iceland and has to get a special license.

And the Pilot Walked Away

His P-38 fighter plane lies smashed and burning on Mindoro Island, but Lt. S. F. Ford, of Baltimore, Md., walks away unharmed. He was shot down in flames by a Jap Zero, and made a crash landing.

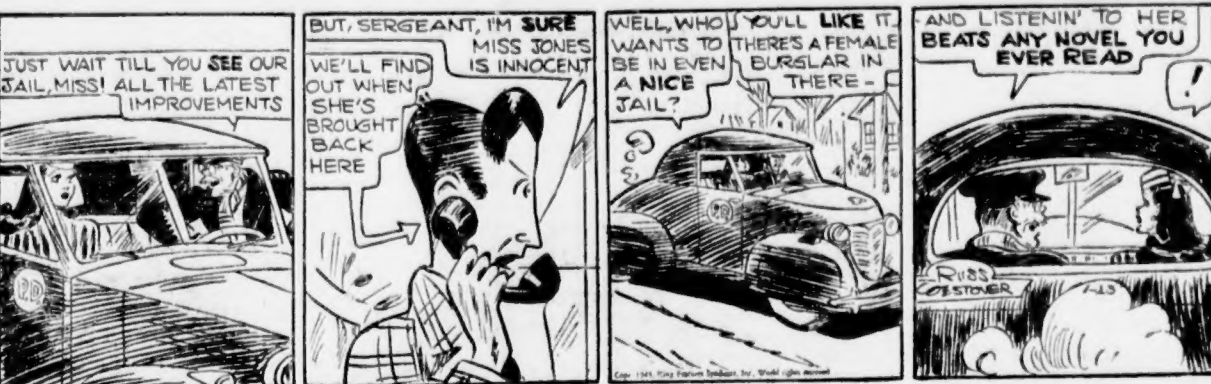

ON THE WESTERN FRONT—As the Allies continue to push the Nazis back into Germany, they are making headway through heavy snowdrifts. The offensive by Allied forces is not made any easier by reason of the huge drifts that have piled up. At the height of the storms, British troops were issued specially designed snow-white camouflage clothing and even the rifles and radios were wrapped in white. A patrol on reconnaissance scramble through the drifts as the men prod the German lines.
